April 2020 Volume XLVII, Number 10

As we made plans for our April schedule, we were thrilled that PBS offered so much programming that takes cutting edge scientific research and explains its working mechanisms and relevance to all Americans. This issue of Patterns highlights several of those special programs.

Our studios at Illinois Public Media are adjacent to the University of Illinois Engineering quad; the University's world famous Institute of Genomic Biology is just down the street. It's thrilling to know that innovative research right here on our campus has the potential to change our lives dramatically. And, it gives WILL the opportunity to highlight just some of this groundbreaking work. Reporter Christine Herman's work is featured on the homepage of IllinoisNewsroom.org – you can find all of her work on health, and especially, mental health, curated there. To complement the Ken Burns 4-hour documentary special The Gene (see facing page for more information) WILL's Senior video producer Sarah Edwards is producing two video "shorts" for the month of April - revealing some of the fascinating genetic research that's being created right here on the Urbana campus of the University of Illinois. Your gifts are supporting science reporting from Christine and Sarah, helping tell the important stories of science here in central Illinois and helping to make possible the work of public television documentary producers across the country, like Ken Burns. Thank you, so much.

KEN BURNS PRESENTS

THE GENE

AN INTIMATE HISTORY

Ken Burns
presents

The Gene: An Intimate History,

a two-part, documentary based on Pulitzer Prize-winning author Dr. Siddhartha Mukherjee's book of the same name, premieres at 7 pm Tuesdays, April 7 and 14. The film airs at a critical moment for the scientific community, as geneticists around the world wrestle with the ethical implications of new technologies that offer both promise and peril. The Gene weaves together science, history, and personal stories for a historical biography of the human genome, while also exploring breakthroughs for diagnosis and treatment of genetic diseases—and the complex ethical questions they raise.

Groundbreaking treatments will improve the lives of millions of people—potentially treating diseases like sickle cell—but there are worries that scientists will take gene-editing technology too far, using it to modify germline DNA in order to enhance certain traits deemed “preferable.”

“These revolutionary discoveries highlight the awesome responsibility we have to make wise decisions, not just for people alive today, but for generations to come,” said Dr. Mukherjee, assistant professor of medicine at the Department of Medicine (Oncology), Columbia University and staff cancer physician at Columbia University Irving Medical Center. “At this pivotal moment when scientists find themselves in a new era in which they’re able to control and change the human genome, The Gene offers a nuanced understanding of how we arrived at this point and how genetics will continue to influence our fates.”

► Francis Collins was the head of the Human Genome Project—a publicly-funded, international effort to sequence all three billion letters of the human genome.

The Green Revolution

The Man Who Tried to Feed the World tells the story of Norman Borlaug, an American agronomist who won the 1970 Nobel Peace Prize for his efforts in fighting global hunger. By increasing the world's food supply, Borlaug made it possible for the planet to support far more people than had been thought possible, saving countless lives in the process. But in doing so, he unleashed a series of unintended consequences that tarnished his reputation and forever changed the environmental and economic balance of the world. Written, directed and produced by Rob Rapley and executive produced by Mark Samels and Susan Bellows, The Man Who Tried to Feed the World premieres at 7 pm Tuesday, April 21 on American Experience.

6 years and no end in sight

Water. Turn on the faucet and it's always there. Without it we perish. But how safe is our tap water? In this special report, NOVA investigates what happened in Flint, Michigan, when local officials changed the city's water source to save money, but overlooked a critical treatment process. NOVA follows ordinary citizens and independent scientists who exposed the danger lurking in Flint's water and confronted those who turned a blind eye. Still, there's a disturbing truth that reaches far beyond Flint—water systems across the country are vulnerable to a similar fate. Poisoned Water airs at 9 pm Wednesday, April 29.

Save the world

On Earth Day, watch the compelling new documentary, Climate Change—The Facts.

The special is hosted by natural historian Sir David Attenborough and presents scientific evidence of the impact of global warming.

The program also examines possible solutions, including the latest innovations, technology, and actions individuals can take to prevent further damage. Climate Change—The Facts premieres at 7 pm Wednesday, April 22.

The solvent of life

Earth is alive because of liquid water and the success of our human story is intimately connected to our relationship with this simple molecule. But the growth of our civilizations has created a dangerous dependence on a precious resource that may be about to run out. H2O: The Molecule that Made Us is a three-part series that explores just how critical water is to our survival and the challenges that are facing us. The series airs at 8 pm Wednesdays, April 22-May 6.

The heat of climate change

A complex portrait of a city and its inhabitants, The Hottest August gives us a window into the collective consciousness of the present. The film's point of departure is one city over one month: New York City, including its outer boroughs, during August 2017. It's a month heavy with the tension of a new President, growing anxiety over everything from rising rents to marching white nationalists, and unrelenting news of either wildfires or hurricanes on every coast. The film pivots on the question of futurity: what does the future look like from where we are standing? And what if we are not all standing in the same place? The Hottest August offers a mirror onto a society on the verge of catastrophe, registering the anxieties, distractions, and survival strategies that preoccupy ordinary lives. Independent Lens presents the film at 9 pm Monday, April 20.

Baptiste returns

MASTERPIECE's Baptiste brings back Tcheky Karyo to revive his role as French detective Julien Baptiste in this spinoff of The Missing. Airing at 9 pm Sundays, starting April 12, Baptiste is drawn into a missing persons case that may be connected to a human trafficking gang while visiting his daughter in Amsterdam.

When war affects the world

Reel Midwest returns to 1963

On October 22, 1963, more than 250,000 students boycotted the Chicago Public Schools to protest racial segregation. Many marched through the city calling for the resignation of School Superintendent Benjamin Willis, who placed trailers, dubbed 'Willis Wagons,' on playgrounds and parking lots of overcrowded black schools rather than let them enroll in nearby white schools. Blending unseen 16mm footage of the march shot by Kartemquin founder Gordon Quinn with the participants' reflections today, '63 Boycott airs as part of Reel Midwest at 8 pm Thursday, April 30.

All aboard for our 9th private rail journey! Join our history-themed rail tour as we travel east to Boston & New England. Celebrate the golden age of trains on private, restored train cars built between 1946 and 1950. Our private cars include a dome car, the Moonlight Dome with 4 deluxe bedrooms and the Birch Grove with roomettes and standard double bedrooms. Our train cars are hooked to the end of Amtrak's Lake Shore Limited then unhooked and parked at Boston's South Station. The number of sleeper berths are limited so do not delay.

Day 1 Saturday: Central Illinois-Chicago-Board Train-Departure

Board our private motor coach as we set off for Chicago. Before heading to Union Station we will visit Chicago's Pullman Historic District. Built between 1880-1884 it was a planned model industrial town for the Pullman's Palace Car Company. We board our private rail cars to travel along the south shores of Lake Michigan, enjoying snacks and adult beverages.

Day 2 Sunday: Train En Route-Boston

We travel through upstate New York with a stop in Albany where our train is split. We continue into Massachusetts arriving Boston's South Station.

Day 3 Monday: Boston-Salem

We visit the coast where tuna fishing and lobstering is at the forefront of the economy. At infamous Salem, the site of the 1692 Witch Trials, our sightseeing includes the cemetery and the Judge's Chambers also known as the Witch House, the only structure still standing associated with the trials. Then we continue to the House of Seven Gables made famous by Nathaniel Hawthorne's gothic novel of the same name featuring the struggle of Hepzibah Pyncheon and family.

Day 4 Tuesday: Boston-Plymouth

We head southeast to Plymouth Rock where tradition says the Pilgrims first landed. Learn about the relationships between the Native American Wompanoag Tribe and the Pilgrims, some good and some not so good. Then on to Plimouth Plantation, a living history museum where the historical interpreters dress in 1624 style and answer questions, discussing their lives and viewpoints from that time.

Day 5 Wednesday: Boston

We stay in Boston for a full day of local sights starting out on the Freedom Trail. We will include the USS Constitution, Bunker Hill Monument, Old North Church, Old State House, and Granary Burying Grounds.

Day 6 Thursday: Boston-Portsmouth-Kennebunk-Kennebunkport

Journey north to New Hampshire's Portsmouth Harbor Lighthouse for a photo stop then on to Maine's charming villages of Kennebunk and Kennebunkport.

Day 7 Friday: Boston

Walk a few blocks to the Boston Tea Party Ships & Museum, Our tour leads us through an interactive colonial town meeting and gives you the opportunity to "dump the tea".

Day 8 Saturday: Boston-Train En Route

Enjoy the panoramic view and high life aboard the train as we head back towards Chicago.

Day 9 Sunday: Train Arrival-Chicago-Central Illinois

Say farewell to the train crew and board our private motor coach back to Central Illinois with special memories of this unique rail journey through history.

Illinois Public Media hosts annual Ag Outlook conference

Farmers from across Illinois and Indiana gathered at the Beef House in Covington, Indiana, for the annual Ag Outlook conference on Tuesday, March 3.

To hear the various speakers at the event, visit willag.org for the audio recordings, as well as the thrice daily market reports and Thursday's commodity week analysis.

willag.org is a partnership of Illinois Public Media and University of Illinois Extension. Its mission is to distribute regionally, nationally, and internationally information and analysis of commodity markets and agricultural weather.
