january 2016 Volume XLIII, Number 7

The New Year brings the opportunity to focus on endings and beginnings; to bid a fond farewell while anticipating new experiences and challenges. We make resolutions to improve ourselves as we reflect on the past year.

Here at WILL, it's no different. As we say goodbye to retiring colleagues and the beloved Downton Abbey, we look ahead for a fresh start.

The new Mercy Street takes us back to the past, but in our own backyard this time. It focuses on the struggles and drama of medicine and relationships during the tumultuous Civil War.

New at 7:30 pm Fridays is SciTech Now, a newsmagazine program that tackles hot topics in scientific discovery, technology and innovation. To learn more, see the article on page 2.

And from the Center for Investigative Reporting comes Reveal, now a weekly radio series at 2 pm Sundays on WILL-AM. Based in the San Francisco Bay area, it features hard-hitting analytical journalism with groundbreaking storytelling.

Meanwhile, we continue to enjoy our classic favorites. Antiques Roadshow is back for its historic 20th season, and Finding Your Roots returns for a new season as well. As our country prepares to elect a new president, we look to Washington Week with Gwen Ifill to keep us informed in a constantly-changing political climate. In addition, POV and Independent Lens have all-new independent documentaries over the course of the new year.

As we kick off 2016, one thing remains the same. We are committed to our mission: enriching lives through the power of public media by stimulating minds and inspiring lifelong learning. You, our faithful audience, inspire our steadfast resolution to high-quality programming.

Fans of Sherlock

on Masterpiece, rejoice!

Before Season 4 of the series goes into production this spring, a 90-minute special, Sherlock: The Abominable Bride, will premiere at 8 pm Friday, Jan. 1, on WILL-TV and, at the same time, online at pbs.org/masterpiece. And this is ahead of the special coming to theatres Jan. 5 and 6 with bonus content (see right).

It's the first time that Sherlock has premiered in the U.S. and the U.K. on the same day. The special will have an encore broadcast at 9 pm Sunday, Jan. 10.

Benedict Cumberbatch (The Imitation Game) and Martin Freeman (The Hobbit) return as Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson in a modern retelling of Arthur Conan Doyle's classic stories. But now our heroes find themselves in 1890s London. Beloved characters Mary Morstan (Amanda Abbington), Inspector Lestrade (Rupert Graves) and Mrs. Hudson (Una Stubbs) also turn up at 221b Baker Street.

Video bonus: Watch a preview. will.illinois.edu/patterns

Explore the newest science and technology

New to the Friday night lineup beginning Jan. 8 at 7:30 pm on WILL-TV is SciTech Now, a weekly, half-hour newsmagazine program that offers a collection of new ideas.

Hosted by Hari Sreenivasan (above left), anchor of PBS NewsHour Weekend and a senior correspondent for the nightly news program, SciTech Now tackles topics including technology, scientific discovery and innovation.

In addition to the national programming, WILL-TV is producing local SciTech Now segments that air the first Friday of every month. This local series is hosted by Kathryn Faith (inset), senior multimedia design specialist at the Carl R. Woese Institute for Genomic Biology's (IGB) at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and reveals advances in science and technology happening right here in east central Illinois.

"I think it's important that science and technology are accessible to everyone," said Kathryn. "I want to be a part of making education about more than just reading textbooks, because I know that's not how I learn. And what better way to find out about the latest science and technology than by watching TV? It's the best of both worlds."

Locally produced segments of SciTech Now feature those at the forefront of science and technology in the area and explain how their research is affecting you. "We take the viewer beyond the lab and the technical jargon to really explore how science is impacting our everyday lives. You will see that SciTech Now covers a range of topics right here in central Illinois, from technology that is improving mobility for people who use wheelchairs to understanding the myriad uses for drones, such as filmmaking and agricultural applications," said Tim Meyers, WILL-TV producer.

For Kathryn—a self-proclaimed expert in curiosity—SciTech Now is an exciting opportunity to share her love of learning while providing the community with a "smorgasbord of science."

Downton marks the end of an era

The top-rated PBS drama of all time approaches its climactic conclusion as Downton Abbey enters its sixth and final season on Masterpiece, premiering at 8 pm Sunday, Jan. 3, on WILL-TV.

Season 6 opens in 1925 with a series of crises reflecting the momentous changes that are transforming society. Women's rights have given Lady Mary and Lady Edith new positions of responsibility: Mary runs the estate, and Edith manages the magazine she inherited from Michael Gregson. Meanwhile, Tom Branson has left for Boston, and newlyweds Lady Rose and Atticus Aldridge are trying their luck in Jazz Age New York. Anna Bates faces a murder charge, though many still suspect her husband. And for the rest of the servants, big doubts hang over their jobs. Will great houses and the fortunes that support them soon be gone?

Speaking of Downton

Manor of Speaking, a half-hour live program hosted by Emmy Award-winning Ernie Manouse (above), is back for a second season at 10 pm Sundays beginning Jan. 3, on WILL-TV.

Produced by Houston Public Media, the show features a live studio audience and a rotating cast of Houston-area celebrity super fans and cultural experts.

The series follows each new episode of Downton Abbey as the Manor panelists discuss what's just transpired and speculate about what is likely to happen next. From 20th century English fashion, history and etiquette to British cuisine and entertainment, Manor of Speaking explores it all.

Start the new year right

We'll rebroadcast The Capitol Steps' Politics Takes a Holiday: New Year's Eve Special at 10 am Friday, Jan. 1, on WILL-AM 580.

And from 10 am-noon that same day on WILL-FM 90.9, the Vienna Philharmonic presents its popular annual New Year's Day Concert from the Golden Hall of the Musikverein in Vienna.

Gates is back with more roots

The third season of Finding Your Roots features 28 new guests and premieres at 7 pm Tuesday, Jan. 5. Anderson Cooper, Angela Bassett, Senator John McCain, Norman Lear, Shonda Rimes, and more join host Henry Louis Gates, Jr., a Harvard scholar who uncovers America's family tree to reveal how our diverse racial, religious and ethnic backgrounds challenge many of our long-held national myths.

Love on the spectrum

Director Matt Fuller examines the everyday realities of autistic adulthood in Independent Lens: Autism in Love at 9 pm Monday, Jan. 11. He looks at how the members of this often-misunderstood community cope with the challenge of keeping romance alive over the years. Capturing both the joys and heartbreak of love, the film emphasizes struggles that are all too familiar: finding the right partner, considering a serious commitment and the end of a marriage.

What matters to you matters to us.

Thanks to the more than 1,000 people who took our online survey. We appreciate your interest and insight on how we can make the most of your Friend of WILL member benefits. We have reviewed all of the comments and truly appreciate your feedback. We're particularly pleased that about one-third of the survey responses were from Friends of 20 years or more.

As promised, we're sharing the survey results with you.

For the primary basis of financial support, many of you continue to reference multiple services; 67.3% said WILL-TV; 41.1% said WILL-AM; and 29.9% said WILL-FM. Five percent named WILL Ag programs, while 4.1% said WILL online and on-demand.

Patterns, your monthly program guide, continues to be your favorite member benefit. Many still list the Membercard as an important benefit, but nearly 81% of you also told us you'd prefer to request the Membercard when you make your gift. We'd been considering this option as a way to more effectively steward your donations, so it was helpful to know that you agree!

An increasing number say they appreciate our weekly eNewsletter. If you aren't already on this list, it's easy to sign up at go.illinois.edu/WILLsubscribe.

In response to our questions about streaming services, just 29% currently use them to watch PBS or WILL programs or videos, but we know that number is growing. When you do use streaming services, 66% of you prefer the WILL-PBS online video portal, followed by 33.2% using YouTube. Roku and Apple TV were the next most-used services.

More than 63% of you would be interested in a member benefit that offers access to older episodes of your favorite PBS and WILL programs that aren't currently available for streaming from PBS or WILL. Be watching for more news on this benefit coming soon.

Most respondents don't live-stream WILL radio programming, but for those who do, you most often use the website (will.illinois.edu), followed by the WILL app and the NPRone app.

Almost one-third of those who responded told us they had attended a WILL-sponsored event. Hopefully, those who have not had a chance to do so can join us soon. Nearly all Friends who have attended an event rated it as an excellent or good experience.

More than 63% of you expressed interest in events with public media speakers, such as Ken Burns and Rick Steves. Next most popular, with 44.6% of responses, were day trip tours or outings such as a Chicago architecture tour or visit to a botanical garden. And you reiterated your interest in attending live tapings of national shows, such as Says You; Wait, Wait...Don't Tell Me; or the TED RadioHour. Educational conferences on gardening, arts, music and more, along with special dinners with local chefs, restaurants or farmers rounded out the top five types of events.

Looking back, looking ahead

Corporate support director Les Schulte retires

Before he put the cap on a 21-year career with Illinois Public Media at the end of December, we talked with Les about those years and more. Here are 10 takeaways from that conversation.

I've been in the radio and broadcasting business since 1970.

"I grew up in Missouri, and went to Lewis College in Lockport, Ill., majoring in speech and theatre. Lewis didn't have a degree program in radio, but did have a radio station, and I worked there during college.

After I graduated, my first job was at a little station in Warrenton, Mo. It was what was known then as a "daytime" station—they signed on at sunrise and signed off at sunset."

I met my wife, Rita, through theatre in college.

"Rita was a student at St. Francis College in Joliet, near Lockport. We married almost 42 years ago and have continued to be involved with community theatre productions."

I started listening to public radio while working at a commercial station in Indiana.

"I always thought it was really cool. And I remember thinking that I'd like to work for a public station."

Champaign-Urbana always appealed to us.

"When we traveled from Indiana with our two young daughters to visit my family in Missouri, we always stopped in Champaign, which was about the halfway point. We thought it was a nice community, and one or the other of us would usually say, 'you know, if we lived in Champaign, we'd be home now.'"

So when we had the opportunity to move here, we did.

"In 1981, I was offered a job in sales at WDWS in Champaign. Rita got a job as the traffic manager for WILL-TV. I started doing volunteer work for the TV pledge drives. And when WILL decided to add another person in the corporate support area, I was hired."

Corporate support agreements have more than doubled since 1984.

"Then, we had roughly 84 corporate support agreements with businesses and organizations who were underwriting programs on radio or TV. The total amount was about $200,000.

In 2015, we had about 193 agreements, and over the past few years, the support from companies and organizations has ranged from $350,000-500,000, depending on the number of local projects that are in production.

We also have 200 or so businesses that make an outright contribution each year. It's gratifying to see the number of local businesses that invest in their communities by investing dollars in WILL and public media programs."

"You know you're doing something good—and something needed—when half of the nation's top 10 programs are public radio shows, such as NPR Morning Edition, Fresh Air and All Things Considered."

"I consider myself lucky because I've gotten to work in a field that I've always loved. And it's been nice to get to know people in the community at both large and small businesses."

"I find that people get invested in what we do. When I'm out in the community while a fundraising campaign is going on, people always ask how it's going and whether we're going to make our goal."

"I hope that I have been able to explain the difference between the public media model and commercial station approach, and to convey that everyone who can support the programs does their part in making our services possible for everyone. If I've done that, I consider it an achievement.

Another successful conference

More than 300 people attended the second Farm Assets Conference Nov. 24 at the Marriott Hotel in Normal. Thanks to our primary sponsor, Farm Credit Illinois and 1st Farm Credit Services, and major sponsors Syngenta and the TIAA-CREF Center for Farmland Research for making the event possible. We also deeply appreciate the support of the Illinois Corn Growers Association.
