january 2018 Volume XLV, Number 7

“Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
and never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
and days of auld lang syne?”

For auld lang syne, my dear,
for auld lang syne,
we’ll take a cup of kindness yet,
for auld lang syne”

It’s a song that immediately takes us to New Year’s Eve: celebrating the end of the year and another chance to clean the slate and begin again. But at its essence is the reminder that we cannot forget the past; the friends and family that have supported and shaped us to bring us right to this very moment in time.

On behalf of Illinois Public Media, I want to toast you, our Friends. You’ve stood by our side, steadfast and strong, as we follow this journey of public media every day. Not only have you brought us here today, but you will remain next to us as we march into 2018 with our heads held high, ready to share with you engaging programming, hard-hitting journalism, and our commitment to truth.

Happy new year, my Friends.

God save the queen

Jenna Coleman returns for a new season as the young queen who wants it all—romance, power, an heir, and personal freedom—in Victoria, season 2, airing in 7 episodes created and scripted by bestselling novelist Daisy Goodwin, premiering at 8 pm Sunday, January 14.

More than 16.2 million viewers tuned in for Victoria's premiere season, making it the highest-rated drama on PBS in 20 years—second only to Downton Abbey.

Joining the cast in the new season is legendary actress Dame Diana Rigg, who plays the Duchess of Buccleuch, the court's new Mistress of the Robes—a fount of old-fashioned good sense for the queen, who is now in the throes of motherhood.

Tom Hughes returns as the queen's smoldering consort, Prince Albert. Also returning from last season are Rufus Sewell as Lord Melbourne, Victoria's first Prime Minister and intimate friend; Nell Hudson as Nancy Skerrett, newly promoted to the queen's chief dresser and whose secrets are yet to be revealed; and Ferdinand Kingsley as Charles Francatelli, the royal chef whose love for Nancy was spurned at the end of Season 1.

The first season of Victoria, focusing on the teenage queen's audacious upstaging of her handlers to chart her own path, delighted TV critics. The Hollywood Reporter called Victoria "thoroughly enjoyable and addictive." "Royally entertaining," proclaimed The San Francisco Chronicle, and "a sparkling gem," said The New York Post. "Victoria is a victory," declared The Tampa Bay Times.

The Untold Stories of Armistead Maupin

9:30 pm January 1

The Untold Tales of Armistead Maupin examines the life and work of one of the world's most beloved storytellers, following his evolution from a conservative son of the Old South into a gay rights pioneer whose novels have inspired millions to claim their own truth. Kroot's documentary about Maupin, the author of 9 novels including Tales of the City, moves nimbly from playful to poignant to wildly funny. With help from his friends—including Neil Gaiman, Laura Linney, Olympia Dukakis, Sir Ian McKellen and Amy Tan—Maupin offers a disarmingly frank look at the journey that took him from the jungles of Vietnam to the bathhouses of 70s San Francisco to the frontlines of America's ongoing culture war.

At a powder keg moment in American policing, The Force presents a mesmerizing cinema vérité look deep inside the long-troubled Oakland Police Department as it struggles to confront federal demands for reform, a popular uprising following events in Ferguson, Missouri, and an explosive sex scandal.

Filmmaker Peter Nicks embedded with the department over the course of two years to follow OPD's serial efforts to recast itself. The film spotlights the new chief, hailed as a reformer, who is brought in to affect reform at the very moment the Black Lives Matter movement emerges to demand police accountability and racial justice both in Oakland and across the nation. The film also follows the journey of young cops in the Academy learning how to police in a new era of transparency and accountability.

Unrest

Filmmaker Jennifer Brea was a Harvard PhD student soon to be engaged when she was struck down by a mysterious fever that left her bedridden. As her illness progressed she lost even the ability to sit in a wheelchair, yet her doctors insisted it was “all in her head.” Jennifer began a video diary on her phone that eventually became the powerful and intimate documentary, Unrest.

Once Jennifer was diagnosed with myalgic encephalomyelitis (ME), commonly known as chronic fatigue syndrome (CFS), she and her new husband, Omar, were left to grapple with how to shape a future together in the face of a lifelong illness. Jennifer embarks on an online voyage around the world where she finds a hidden community of millions who have disappeared from their own lives, confined to their homes and bedrooms by ME. Using the internet, Skype, and Facebook, these disparate people connect with each other, finding a much-needed sanctuary of support and understanding.

I Am Not Your Negro 8 pm January 15

In 1979 James Baldwin (far right) wrote a letter to his literary agent describing his next project, to be called Remember This House. The book was to be a revolutionary, personal account of the lives and successive assassinations of three of his close friends—Medgar Evers, Malcolm X (far left), and Martin Luther King, Jr. (center). But at the time of Baldwin’s death in 1987, he left behind only 30 completed pages of his manuscript.

Now, in his incendiary documentary, master filmmaker Raoul Peck envisions the book James Baldwin never finished. The result is a radical examination of race in America, using Baldwin’s original words, spoken by Samuel L. Jackson. I Am Not Your Negro is a journey into black history that connects the past of the Civil Rights movement to the present of #BlackLivesMatter, in which Baldwin and Peck have produced a work that challenges the very definition of what America stands for.

When 20-something Chinese filmmaker Nanfu Wang first came to America in 2011, Florida seemed like an exotic frontier full of theme parks, prehistoric swamp creatures, and sunburned denizens. Staying at a hostel on a break from her studies at New York University, she encounters Dylan, a blonde, charismatic, 22-year-old drifter who has left a comfortable home and loving family in Utah for a life of intentional homelessness and unfettered adventure. Fascinated by his choice and rejection of society’s rules, Nanfu follows Dylan with her camera, living with him on the streets. But while I Am Another You begins as a portrait of a uniquely American quest for freedom, it soon unfolds into a haunting and unforgettable story of family, illness, and love.

Hidden secrets

The only one of the seven wonders of the world still standing, the Great Pyramid of Khufu has fascinated people for centuries. Tracing the origin of the legends of secret chambers hidden in the heart of the pyramid, Scanning the Pyramids at 9 pm Wednesday, January 24 will show what lies within, solving a 4,500-year-old mystery, by following the first scientific mission in 30 years to be authorized by the Egyptian government to examine the pyramids of Egypt.

This episode of Secrets of the Dead explores every corner of the pyramid, using non-invasive technologies including infrared cameras, 3D scanners, and cosmological particle detectors located inside and outside the monument, in a search that detected unknown cavities for the first time since the Middle Ages.

They are the most enigmatic, mysterious, and exotic objects in the universe: black holes. They're also the most powerful; their gravity is so strong that nothing—not even light—can escape their pull. And they're the most destructive, swallowing particles, dust, gas, planets, even giant stars. Anything that falls into them vanishes ... gone forever. But now, astrophysicists are coming to realize that black holes just might be an essential key to the structure of the universe—and to our very existence. In Black Hole Apocalypse at 8 pm Wednesday, January 10, NOVA investigates recent surprising discoveries about black holes that have raised deep questions and brought astrophysics to a major crossroads.

On the road again

After more than 20 years searching for America's hidden treasures, Antiques Roadshow finds sensational first-time objects in six cities featured as part of season 22. From eyewitness accounts of historic moments to items that are truly macabre, Roadshow appraisers, guests, and locations make this a ground-breaking new season, premiering at 7 pm Monday, January 8.

"I was amazed by the number of never-before-seen items discovered on this year's tour," says executive producer Marsha Bemko.

Young talent

Sighted Eyes/Feeling Heart tells the dramatic story of Lorraine Hansberry, the young, gifted and black woman who chose words to fight injustice—on stage and off. At a time when women, people of color, and homosexuals were confined to the margins of society, Hansberry (1930-1965), best known for the Tony-award nominated A Raisin in the Sun, boldly challenged U.S. society to live up to its ideals. Sighted Eyes/Feeling Heart, presented by American Masters, airs at 8 pm Friday, January 19.

Into the Amazon tells the remarkable story of the 1914 journey taken by President Theodore Roosevelt and legendary Brazilian explorer Candido Mariano Da Silva Rondon into the heart of the South American rainforest to chart an unexplored tributary of the Amazon River. With six American adventurers, including his son Kermit, Roosevelt spent eight harrowing weeks in one of the most remote and inhospitable places on earth, battling tenacious insects, deadly rapids, fever, hunger and exhaustion on a quest to map an unknown river in one of the wildest and most beautiful places on earth. Featuring the voices of Alec Baldwin, Wagner Moura, and Jake Lacy, Into the Amazon premieres on American Experience at 8 pm Tuesday, January 9.

A genuine classic

No one in American popular music has recorded for so long and at such a high level of excellence as Tony Bennett. His initial successes came via a string of Columbia singles in the early 1950s, including such chart-toppers as “Because of You,” “Rags to Riches” and a remake of Hank Williams’ “Cold, Cold Heart.” He has had 24 songs in the Top 40, including “I Wanna Be Around,” “The Good Life,” “Who Can I Turn To (When Nobody Needs Me)” and his signature song, “I Left My Heart in San Francisco,” which garnered two GRAMMY Awards. Now, Bennett will receive The Library of Congress Gershwin Prize for Popular Song at 8 pm Friday, January 12.

New series features powerful reunions

We'll Meet Again, a new series hosted by Ann Curry, premieres at 7 pm Tuesdays, January 23. Exploring some of history's most dramatic events through the personal stories of those who experienced them, the series brings together people whose lives intersected at pivotal moments. Each episode of We'll Meet Again reveals the powerful bonds forged among people who now, against the odds, have the chance to reunite with someone who transformed their life.

The tides of history can disrupt lives, throwing strangers together or tearing loved ones apart. We'll Meet Again reveals these moving personal stories of hope, courage, and love: from a Vietnam War baby desperate to find the American father she last saw 40 years ago to the military chaplain who helped a stranger through the trauma of 9/11, from a Japanese-American girl interned in 1942 who never forgot the classmate who helped her during her darkest hours to civil rights workers whose lives were forever changed by the deep relationships they formed in the 1960s South.

We'll Meet Again takes viewers on a journey of hope, searching for clues in marriage records and war and immigration documents, and combing archives to reunite those separated by time and distance.

2 new employees join Illinois Public Media

A graduate of Parkland College, Coogan later worked there as an AV technician, then as chief engineer for Parkland's radio station for WPCD.

"I found myself moving back to Ohio to work as a broadcast technician for iHeartMedia in Dayton. They manage 16 different radio stations in 3 markets, so the range of experiences was huge."

But love brought recently married Coogan back to Champaign-Urbana. "My wife and her family are here, and I knew this is where I needed to be too."

Coogan's responsibilities at IPM include everything behind the scenes, such as assisting with projects on radio and TV and the day-to-day operations. "If things go smoothly, no one knows we are here! But we are always on-hand for the rare occasions when it doesn't."

Coogan is himself a fan of public media. "I listen to the classical music on 90.1 during the day, and I like to watch episodes of This Old House. I had never worked on live TV before, so it's been very cool to see Mid-American Gardener and our fundraising come together in person."

In his spare time, Coogan is a craft beer connoisseur. "I've home brewed before, and my wife and I visit the local breweries often. Most of our vacations involve road trips to new breweries for tastings."

Welcome Kevin!

Kevin Coogan joins the IPM staff as the assistant chief engineer. Coogan is originally from Rantoul, Ill., but moved to Dayton, Ohio, when he was 7. "When Chanute Air Force base closed, my family moved to Dayton, but work and family have brought me back and forth throughout the years."

Jill Clements is the latest addition to the IPM Development staff as the assistant corporate support director. “I work with the various businesses in our listening and viewing areas to sponsor our programming, as well as ad placements.”

Clements’ former experience in the Chicago market suits her well for the role. “I worked for V103 as their promotions director. During that time, I created An Expo for Today’s Black Woman, and I oversaw the growth of that event into an annual 3-day weekend that has over 70,000 attendees.”

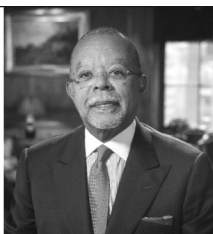

But this was not Clements’ first foray into the big leagues. “Right after graduation from SIU, I began working for a small television production company in Chicago, where I focused on developing TV treatments along with script writing for the comedy pilot for In Living Color.”

Family both inspired Clements’ career path and brought her back to central Illinois. “My brother Dereke worked for WPGU as an overnight DJ, and I would shadow him in the studio and I loved it. Later he moved to Los Angeles and became the Promotions Director for the legendary R&B station KDAY-1580 and he regularly sent home photos of himself with major celebrities including the Jackson Five, Stevie Wonder. I knew that I wanted to follow in his footsteps.”

Clements has done just that, meeting several idols. “The expo in Chicago kicked off with an awards Gala honoring notable African American women. The year in which Dr. Maya Angelou was the honoree, she unfortunately fell ill the day of the sold out event and couldn’t attend. Only one person could save the day, and she did, Oprah Winfrey came to accept the award on Maya Angelou’s behalf.”

Outside of her career, Clements enjoys traveling with friends and family to attend live concerts, comedy shows, and summer music festivals. “I’m a creature of habit, if I’m not selling, creating, or producing an event, chances are I’m attending one.”

Welcome Jill!

A sweet book mentor project family night

On October 26, the students and families from the Book Mentor Project visited the UIUC Pollinatorium to celebrate the October Book Mentor Project book, Diary of a Worm by Doreen Cronin.

Approximately 75 people attended the event led by Lesley Deem, coordinator of the Pollinatorium. Local research scientist and special guest Dr. James Nardi presented samples of live bugs for the children to look at under a microscope and spoke with the families about the important role bugs/insects play in our daily lives. Special costume character guest “Honey Bear” was also present to take pictures with the kids.

A special thank you to the men from Lone Star Lodge #18 (Prince Hall Masons), who volunteer each year at this event to grill hotdogs for our families.

Guests designed crafts, visited with Honey Bear, ate dinner, and observed bugs through microscopes and projectors at the annual Book Mentor Project Family Night.
