June 2021 Volume XLVIII, Number 12

While there has been better news locally about COVID-19 recently—increased vaccination rates and lower infection rates in our region—we know the impact from the pandemic will continue for years to come. I want you to know Illinois Public Media will continue to provide you with essential COVID-related information and to deliver entertainment that offers you a chance to take a break.

As we approach our new fiscal year on July 1, 2021, we face negative financial impacts from COVID-19. We are doing our part by taking pandemic-related budget cuts from the University of Illinois. And, like almost every other public media station, we saw a substantial dip in underwriting support in this past year. As a forward-funded organization, this puts increased urgency on our June 30 end of fiscal year fundraising deadline.

Given all that has gone on, I know not everyone is in a position to make a donation. But if you can make a gift before June 30, please consider going to willgive.org today. Help us close our financial gap, which we currently estimate to be around $150,000. Your gift ensures this service remains available to everyone, including community members like Sarah, who recently told us “WILL saved my soul during my COVID year.”

On that note, I thank each of you for helping us to provide this essential resource to our entire community during such a difficult time. Your ongoing support has helped save WILL during our COVID year and will help us thrive as we all move forward together in the years to come.

“Camelot is a silly place”

Monty Python's influence on comedy has been compared to the Beatles' influence on music, a pivotal moment in the evolution of television humor. Celebrating the cultural legacy and influence of the troupe, Monty Python's Best Bits Celebrated pairs their original material with new and entertaining commentary from comedians, actors and others who consider Monty Python hugely significant, both personally and to the history of screen satire. Monty Python's Best Bits Celebrated premieres at 7 pm Saturday, June 5.

Seth Green, Simon Jones, Patton Oswalt, Paula Poundstone, Todd Rundgren, Steven Wright, and other special guests discuss, laugh, and reminisce about favorite Python segments and bring a fresh perspective to the material, connecting Monty Python's work to today's most successful television humor. In a time when a few moments of escape and laughter are needed more than ever, join the Monty Python crew for a historical and humor filled ride.

Visit Malta with Andrea Bocelli

Internationally beloved Italian tenor Andrea Bocelli's 2020 album Believe celebrates the power of music to soothe the soul and follows his record-breaking Music for Hope performance on Easter 2020 from Milan's historic Duomo cathedral in the dark early days of the COVID-19 pandemic. Recorded on spectacular locations on the scenic island of Malta, Great Performances: Andrea Bocelli: Believe at 9 pm Tuesday, June 8 features classic favorites, including "Gratia Plena," a previously unreleased song by Italian composer Ennio Morricone from the acclaimed film Fatima, and a duet Cecilia Bartoli, along with new interpretations of "Ave Maria" and Leonard Cohen's "Hallelujah."

The ultimate sleuth

WILL-TV presents three Agatha Christie movies for fans of the mystery author.

Agatha and the Curse of Ishtar

6 pm Sunday, June 6 and 8 pm Thursday, June 24

In the late 1920s, Agatha Christie, bruised from her divorce, travels to the deserts of Iraq for an archaeological dig. But soon she becomes involved in unraveling a series of mysterious murders.

Agatha and the Midnight Murders

8 pm Thursday, June 10 and Saturday, June 19

As bombs fall on London in 1940 during the Blitz, Agatha Christie considers selling a manuscript that will kill off her most famous creation—Hercule Poirot. But will a superfan pay an enormous sum to keep the fictional detective alive?

Agatha and the Truth of Murder

8 pm Sunday, June 6; Thursday, June 17; and Saturday, June 26

Can Agatha use her mystery writing skills to investigate and solve the real-life murder of Florence Nightingale's goddaughter?

The First Lady of song

Ella Fitzgerald was 15-years-old when she won a talent contest at the Apollo Theatre in Harlem in 1934. Within months she was a star. Just One Of Those Things airs at 7 pm Tuesday, June 8 and follows her extraordinary journey over six decades as her sublime voice transforms the tragedies and troubles of her own life and times into joy. With rarely heard interviews and never-before-seen images, the film brings the singer to life and tells the story of her music. It uncovers her commitment to the battle for civil rights and the conflicts that haunted this intensely private woman as she struggled to reconcile her hunger for adoring audiences with her longing for a domestic life with her husband and son. Even when she was the biggest singing star in the world, her pianist and friend Oscar Peterson said Fitzgerald was “the loneliest woman in the world.” But as singer-songwriter Jamie Cullum says in the film: “Her music is one of the reasons it’s worth being on this planet.”

Travel lovers have spent the last year or so dreaming of where they’ll travel post-COVID. In this unforgettable journey Rick Steves: Europe Awaits at 7 pm Monday, June 7, Rick Steves shares vivid visits to European favorites—off-beat, romantic, or just good for the soul—that he’d love to visit when we can travel again. Stow-away with Rick as he explores the wonders and savors the joys of a montage of travel delights: Sicily, so tasty and historic; Mykonos, for a little Aegean romance; Porto, in the rustic and untouristed north of Portugal; the Cotswolds, for the best of the English countryside; Tuscany, Italy’s La Dolce Vita country; and Romania, with perhaps the most vivid traditional folk life in Europe. It’s a far-flung adventure that comes with remote beaches, gourmet food, and an memorable English hike; Rick even drops in on an eccentric lord and a Tuscan pig farm!

On pointe comedy

This is the story of little boys who wanted to grow up to be ballerinas. And did.

A revolution is raging in America, and the barricades are being stormed by men in tutus. As culture wars ignite over gender fluidity and LGBTQ rights, the story of Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo—a company of men who dance on pointe as ballerinas—could not be more relevant. American Masters-Ballerina Boys follows these remarkable dancers as they use brilliant ballet technique and irrepressible comedy to achieve social justice one pirouette at a time. “The Trocks” hail from all over the globe, but they share a passionate sense of mission. All of them are pledged to ballet, all are gay, and all have, as their boss Tory Dobrin notes, “that comic heart.” The documentary airs at 8 pm Friday, June 4.

Honoring a legacy

Just days before the first case of COVID-19 was discovered in the UK, a very special concert took place at the legendary Palladium in London to celebrate the musical legacy of Peter Green, a founding member of Fleetwood Mac. Organized by Mick Fleetwood, the concert now holds a particularly poignant meaning after the sad passing of Green in July 2020. The players gathered include an all-star cast, which included Neil Finn, Noel Gallagher, Billy Gibbons, David Gilmour, Kirk Hammett, John Mayall, Christine McVie, Jeremy Spencer, Zak Starkey, Pete Townshend, Steven Tyler and Bill Wyman.

Great Performances: Mick Fleetwood & Friends: Celebrating the Music of Peter Green airs at 3:30 pm Saturday, June 5.

A family on the edge

Paris, Venice, and Barcelona are on the itinerary when a married couple on the verge of breakup take a European vacation with their rebellious teenage son. Tom Hollander and Saskia Reeves star as Douglas and Connie, a hopelessly mismatched husband and wife, with Tom Taylor as Albie, their moody offspring. Adapted from David Nicholls’ Booker Prize–nominated novel, Us airs in two two-hour episodes on MASTERPIECE at 8 pm Sundays, June 20 and 27.

Removing the stigma

An Olympic boxer struggling with OCD... a Harlem pastor wrestling with depression... a transgender lawyer recovering from years of self-loathing... a young activist coming to terms with her schizophrenia... One in four people will experience a mental illness at some point in their lifetime. Yet a diagnosis of a mental disorder still carries a stigma that a heart condition or other physical ailment doesn't, largely because mental illness has been so poorly understood for so long.

The landmark series Mysteries of Mental Illness airs at 8 pm and 9 pm Tuesday, June 22, and Wednesday, June 23 and places the stories of those living with mental illness today in a broader historic, scientific, and social context. The series traces how our understanding of mental illness has evolved from an ancient conception of spiritual affliction to the latest 21st century neurobiological breakthroughs.

The weekend starts here!

Best of the 60s: Ready, Steady, Go! is a compilation from across the years of the iconic music series and features performances by The Beatles, The Rolling Stones, The Who, Martha & the Vandellas, Dusty Springfield, The Animals, Otis Redding, The Temptations, The Walker Brothers, Them, Marvin Gaye, and more.

Originally broadcast from 1963 to 1966, Ready Steady Go! was one of the UK's first rock and pop music TV shows. The series epitomized the spirit of youthful optimism that gripped Britain in the mid-Swinging Sixties. Reflecting the cultural upheaval of the time, it was the only place on British television where anything went, as far as performance, fashion, and attitude were concerned. Best of the 60s: Ready, Steady, Go! airs at 5:30 pm Saturday, June 5.

Professor T returns to Passport for a final season

Belgian mystery series Professor T is back for a third and final season via WILL Passport. The quirky crime drama picks up soon after its season two finale—with the brilliant and rude Jasper Teerlinck in handcuffs and on his way to prison. Jasper has expected difficulty adjusting to life behind bars, especially since he now shares his home with other criminals he helped to put behind bars. While his friends and family on the outside working to help free him, will he continue his work helping Inspectors Rabet and Van Humbeek? In Flemish with English subtitles, you can stream all three seasons of this Walter's Choice series today as a Friend of WILL. And stay tuned for more information about a new English version of the series debuting on PBS this July.

The role of journalist is not new to Spain, who worked as a reporter and anchor on WCIA-TV for six years. "I've been telling stories professionally for over 15 years, but I have been writing stories since I could write. For me it's the challenge of connecting with someone and then through your words bringing them as close to that experience as you can."

Taking on another position at the station is a welcome challenge, says Spain. "I love that everyone at Illinois Public Media cares so deeply about what they do. So while my roles are different, the culture is the same in that we're all collaborating and rooting for each other."

Spain joined the Illinois Public Media team in June of 2018 to host the long-running, weekly WILL-TV series Mid-American Gardener.

"It's the best feeling really because now I am living what I would consider to be my dream. My job, in addition to hosting Mid-American Gardener, is to report on environmental issues and both of those are so closely intertwined with who I am personally I have to pinch myself some days."

Tune in to Mid-American Gardener at 7 pm Thursday nights on WILL-TV. Find tips, hints, and more on the Mid-American Gardener Facebook page. Spade's environmental stories will be found at illinoisnewsroom.org.

Julia Escobar joins the WILL Classical team

Julia Escobar is the first John Frayne Classical Music Graduate Student Work Experience. Escobar recently received her Masters of Music in Flute Performance and Literature at the University of Illinois, and will now work with Illinois Public Media to connect the school of Music to the community through our WILL Classical service.

After completing her undergrad at Texas State University, Escobar moved to Urbana two years ago to complete her graduate degree with Professor of Flute Dr. Jonathan Keeble. The change in locations was an adjustment, said Escobar. "I had never experienced living around snow before, or had a very cold winter. My mom kept sending packages of winter-weather gear like hand warmers because she wanted me to have everything I needed."

While not musicians themselves, Escobar's parents have always been supportive of her and her older brother's goals. "My mom is a lawyer, and my dad is a dentist, and then I play the flute and my brother designs video games! But they have always been supportive of our pursuits to be freelance artists."

Escobar chose the University of Illinois specifically to work with Dr. Keeble. "He's a wonderful mentor, and has been especially supportive as the pandemic hit only a semester and a half into my Master's program. We are a small cohort, and my roommate is one of my fellow students, so we have become like a family here."

Escobar will begin her doctorate program in the fall with a goal to be a flute professor. She has dabbled in audio recording, and looks forward to finding ways to connect music with public media. "I have taught flute to high schoolers and really enjoy teaching. I hope to use my dissertation as an opportunity to find valuable tools for teaching my students. Reaching out on public media is just another way to educate the masses on classical music."

Welcome, Julia!

Student podcast focuses on local gun violence

▲ Uni High student Sarah Salih interviews James Seikel, former general manager at High Caliber Training Center, while Uni High student Theodore Kemna engineers at the WILL radio studios

Illinois Public Media has combined forces with University Laboratory High School once again to create a four-part podcast series for Illinois Youth Media, Changing the Narrative: Preventing Gun Violence in Champaign-Urbana.

The podcast series gives a voice to individuals in the Champaign-Urbana community who are working to prevent gun violence. Through the perspective of our interviewees, we learn about efforts to combat the rising number of gun shootings occurring in Champaign. This project hopes to bring light on how gun violence affects our community and provides a space for discussion on how firearms can function more safely as a part of our society.

This podcast series is a part of Uni High School's Oral History Project, featuring interviews conducted in 2019 by Uni's class of 2023, and features interviews with people on all sides of the gun debate.

Senior Student Producer Keshav Gandhi (class of 2021) said, "After listening to our podcast series, I think that audience members will broaden their perspectives on the complex issue of gun violence. And for that, we have to thank our interviewees, who were willing to share their personal experiences and provide a rewarding learning experience for Uni High students."

The series can be found at will.illinois.edu/illinoisyouthmedia. Major thanks to Melissa Schoepfle, project director for Uni High, and Kimberlie Kranich, project director for Illinois Public Media.

She Said returns for season 4

Illinois Public Media has been partnering with The She Said Project since 2019 to give everyday women a space to come together and share their extraordinary stories through The She Said Project Podcast.

Season 4 will feature even more stories from the She Said stage. Join our hosts, co-founder Kerry Rossow and National Director, Jenette Jurczyk each week as they visit with some incredible women who braved the microphone and the stage. Learn more about the "story behind the story" and the impact the She Said show experience has had on them and their community since.

This new season of the podcast will have us laughing, crying, and everything in between, from connecting with Karyl Wackerlin about her emotional story from back in 2015, to the first ever international speaker Cobey Flynn—who joined the virtual She Said stage from Barcelona, Spain.

The She Said Project Podcast believes everyone has a story to share and that can inspire deeper human connection while building community. Season 4 gets underway on June 18, and you stream new episodes every Friday at will.illinois.edu/shesaid or anywhere you get your podcasts. The She Said Project Podcast Season 4 is made possible by Sterling Wealth Management, Carle, and Health Alliance.
