Patterns

March 2019 Volume XLVI, Number 9

This issue of Patterns might as well be called "The Classics Edition" as there are so many great nods to classic music, television, and even leadership. Our March programming highlights some of the best musicians of our time: Joni Mitchell, Nat King Cole, Woody Guthrie, and Josh Groban. More television entertainment comes from the viewer favorite Call the Midwife—returning for its eighth season—and an inside look at the man who sets the standard for documentaries: A Conversation with Ken Burns. Then on March 1, Roger Cooper presents Classically Black: Creole Romantics on Prairie Performances on WILL-FM 90.9.

Finally, we pay tribute to an Illinois Public Media legend, Don Mullally. He paved the way for what public media should be, and his lasting legacy continues to affect our long-term goals and mission.

These classics all have one thing in common: they achieved this status through the hard work, determination, and perseverance of many, both those in the spotlight and those behind the scenes. We will continue to follow in their example by providing the very best in public media.

Joni 75

A Birthday Celebration

The songs of legendary singer-songwriter Joni Mitchell are among the most sublime musical landscapes of human emotion ever created. Mitchell's unique musical and lyrical gifts are an unprecedented marriage of intimacy and universality, creating a sound that is incomparable, yet relatable to all. She is a trailblazer, a wanderer and a searcher, who continuously explores new territory and invites the world to join her on her journey of discovery.

On the occasion of Mitchell's 75th birthday on November 7, 2018, an all-star line-up of performers gathered at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion in Los Angeles to celebrate her singular musical artistry. Brandi Carlile, Glen Hansard, Emmylou Harris, Norah Jones, Chaka Khan, Diana Krall, Kris Kristofferson, Los Lobos with La Marisoul, Cesar Castro & Xochi Flores, Graham Nash, Seal, James Taylor and Rufus Wainwright performed Joni Mitchell songs from throughout the varied stylistic periods of her groundbreaking career.

Now you can experience this amazing performance in the Great Performances special Joni 75: A Birthday Celebration at 8:30 pm Saturday, March 2.

We will meet once again

Possessing one of the most outstanding and instantly recognizable voices in music, GRAMMY Award-nominated singer, songwriter, and actor Josh Groban has entertained fans across the globe with his multi-platinum albums and DVDs (over 30 million sold worldwide), electrifying live performances, and comedic film and television appearances. Now, his special Josh Groban Bridges: In Concert from Madison Square Garden airs at 7 pm Monday, March 4, and 9 pm Sunday, March 10. Filmed at New York's Madison Square Garden on November 18, 2018, this new concert features international superstar Groban performing songs from his much-praised recent album Bridges, as well as a selection of classic songs and fan favorites from the last 20 years. Joining him on stage as special guests are Tony Award-winner Idina Menzel and Grammy Award-winner Jennifer Nettles, along with a choir and orchestra.

Do re mi

The Woody Guthrie All-Star Tribute at the Hollywood Bowl in 1970 celebrated the work of America's greatest folk singer. Although filmed in 1970, the footage was missing and un-edited until a few months ago when the producers discovered it was a treasure trove that captured the performers in their prime and features music as riveting and relevant as it was when Woody wrote it. Woody's son, Arlo Guthrie, is joined by Joan Baez, Pete Seeger, Country Joe McDonald, Odetta, Richie Havens, Ramblin' Jack Elliott, and others in this historic tribute concert, which was hosted by Peter Fonda and Will Geer. It is now a special for PBS viewers. Woody Guthrie All Star Tribute Concert-1970 premieres at 8:30 pm Saturday, March 9.

Love, sweet love

Hosted by ardent admirer, Bette Midler, What The World Needs Now: Words By Hal David is a musical tribute to the man who wrote some of the most enduring songs in American popular music. In partnership with composer Burt Bacharach, the duo dominated the pop-music charts in the 1960s and early 70s and crafted dozens of Top 40 hit recordings which are now timeless.

Among Bacharach and David's greatest hits:

- "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head"
- "Do You Know the Way to San Jose?"
- "What the World Needs Now Is Love"
- "Walk on By"
- "Alfie"
- "The Look of Love"
- "I Say a Little Prayer"
- "A House Is Not a Home"
- "I'll Never Fall in Love Again"
- "What's New, Pussycat"

Guests interviewed for the program include Bacharach, Dionne Warwick, Valerie Simpson, B. J. Thomas, music writer Francis Davis, and NPR's Fresh Air host Terry Gross, along with a cavalcade of music-clip performances from Aretha Franklin, Cher, Barbra Streisand, B. J. Thomas, Dusty Springfield, Tom Jones, Jackie DeShannon, Glen Campbell, and, of course, the fabulous Warwick, who is the inspirational muse for almost the entire Bacharach-David songbook. The special airs at 7:30 pm Friday, March 8.

Unforgettable

The My Music series proudly presents a centennial celebration of the immortal Nat King Cole with the first-ever special to present full performances of his greatest hits and cherished standards. The elegance, warmth, and beauty of Cole's voice is unmatched in the history of popular music. Classic ballads such as "Mona Lisa," "Unforgettable," and "When I Fall In Love" are among the most passionate love songs ever recorded. Rarely seen footage from his groundbreaking 1950s variety show and long-lost promotional films paint a nostalgic portrait of an impeccable and timeless artist. Nat King Cole's Greatest Songs (My Music) airs at 7 pm Saturday, March 9.

Celebrate Women's History Month

In a year when American women mobilized, ran for office, and were elected to Congress in unprecedented numbers, the acclaimed documentary series Women, War & Peace will return at 8 pm Monday, March 25 and Tuesday, March 26 with powerful stories of women's role in dramatic conflicts and peace settlements across the globe. Season 2 demonstrates how some of the biggest international stories of recent memory are shaped by women. An all-female cast of directors present four never-before-told stories about the women who risked their lives for peace, changing history in the process.

The midwives are back!

At the start of season eight of Call The Midwife, it's spring of 1964 and everyone is excited for the Queen's Royal Birth. With the additions of two new Sisters who have been sent to live and work with the team in Poplar, Nonnatus House feels full once more.

Nurse Trixie Franklin also returns for the new season, in which the midwives encounter complications with pre-eclampsia and cleft palates. The new season premieres at 7 pm Sunday, March 31.

A tide in the affairs of women

Set in a women's prison, Great Performances: Julius Caesar offers a powerful dramatization of the catastrophic consequences of a political leader's extension of power beyond constitutional confines through an all-female lens. In this acclaimed Donmar Warehouse production directed Phyllida Lloyd (The Iron Lady, Mamma Mia!), Shakespeare's famous discourse on power, loyalty and tragic idealism is heightened against the backdrop of female incarceration. The performance premieres at 8 pm Friday, March 29.

A Conversation with Ken Burns

premieres at 8:30 pm Tuesday, March 12. In this exclusive-for-PBS program, award-winning, critically acclaimed documentary filmmaker Ken Burns sits down to discuss his work as a historian, storyteller and curator of uniquely American subjects. Guided by Peabody Award-winning journalist Don Shelby, Burns looks back on his early childhood experiences and influences that led him to pursue a career as a filmmaker. He shares behind-closed-doors anecdotes about the actors and notable personalities he's worked with, and stories gleaned from his research.

On the open road

When your family piled into the car for a vacation, where did you go? Starved Rock? Lake Geneva? The Dells? Maybe the Indiana Dunes? Or Michigan's Harbor Country? The road trip is a time-honored tradition. "Are we there yet?" is a familiar refrain, but with Geoffrey Baer behind the wheel, you'll be asking "Where are we going next?"

In Chicago on Vacation with Geoffrey Baer, Baer visits the beloved lakes, resorts, and towns we visit when we want to escape life in the city—and the stops we make along the way. Through archival film, old home movies, testimonials, interviews, and beautiful new footage, he explores the hidden history of Chicagoans' favorite vacation spots. The special airs at 7 pm Wednesday, March 6.

On pledge drive days with this symbol, program start and end times may vary.

Bobbi McSwine is Illinois Public Media's latest intern

Bobbi McSwine has pulled double-duty as an intern with Illinois Public Media. Last semester, she was the Donald P. Mullally intern in the WILL Newsroom, working on website posts, interviewing local people, producing news segments, and covering social media during the November election. Now, McSwine is interning with The 21st, providing scripts, helping produce segments, and posting web content.

"It has been a unique experience to intern in two offices at Illinois Public Media. Both internships have given me the opportunity to see the differences between providing content for a morning newscast versus a live, hour-long radio show," said McSwine.

McSwine, a senior at the University of Illinois, is a journalism major at the College of Media. The youngest of six, McSwine hails from southside Chicago and originally explored the University at her father's request. "My dad wanted me to stay close, and asked me to see the campus. I was doubtful, but I quickly realized it was the right place for me."

A love of writing in high school inspired McSwine's major. But she unexpectedly found herself drawn to broadcast journalism. "After my freshman year, I crafted a mini-documentary on the school-to-prison pipeline. I realized that the combination of images, voice, and your own research has a powerful impact. I knew that this was what I wanted to do."

McSwine would like to stay in front of the camera as she graduates from college this May. "I hope to return to Chicago for work, doing community journalism. I also want to produce segments as well as anchor."

McSwine has made the most of her time in college, volunteering in the community at Cunningham Children's Home, Parkland's food bank, and gathering food for the annual Day of Service. "I have really enjoyed Champaign-Urbana; it's such an engaging community."

It's her community involvement and time at Illinois Public Media that encouraged McSwine's pursuit of community journalism. "I watched public media television as a kid with my mom, and I've become an avid listener in my time working here. I've seen the power of public media, and I want to make sure the community's voice remains heard."

Welcome, Bobbi!

Illinois Public Media welcomes Andrew Reynolds

Andrew Reynolds has joined the Illinois Public Media staff as our newest web developer. Reynolds, a native of Danville, moved to Champaign-Urbana in high school and attended the University of Illinois. After working in Washington, DC, for a few years, Reynolds and his family returned to C-U four years ago.

Reynolds will be taking over the Illinois Public Media website, both making sure that the various systems are working together on the coding side while also presenting a very user-friendly interface for our guests. "To keep our web guests as up-to-date as possible with the latest news, we need to ensure our connections with the NPR and PBS websites are working well, along with providing our own content quickly and easily."

Reynolds is an avid consumer of public media, although the ways he encounters it have changed. "When I was a kid, PBS was one of only a handful of stations we had, so it was a regular staple. Now, there is so much more content and so many more ways to consume it, that I feel like you have to seek it out on your own terms. I'm excited that I'll be able to facilitate that for our audience through our website."

Outside of work, Reynolds prefers to be outdoors. "I like hiking, canoeing, and camping with my family. We also like to travel when possible. Our favorite trip so far was to France a couple years ago." Reynolds also joins several other Illinois Public Media staff that enjoy brewing craft beer.

Welcome, Andrew!

Donald P. Mullally Legacy Circle established

When Don Mullally became the director of broadcasting for the WILL stations in the early 1970s, his goals were clear. "Don brought with him a clear vision of the role of public broadcasting, not just in east central Illinois, but across the country. Not-for-profit public radio and television stations should be independent, professional broadcast services dedicated to educating and entertaining their audiences, to enriching their lives," says Debbie Day, former development director for WILL. Unfortunately, Mullally knew that the federal, state, and University funding was not enough to provide quality radio and television programming.

To fund that vision, Mullally and staff created the first on-air pledge drive for a community support group in 1974. Called the Friends of WILL, it provided both volunteer service and financial support to ensure the stations' growth and strength in the community.

Mullally's vision continues today at Illinois Public Media. "It amazes me, with all the changes in technology we have experienced in the last 45 years, that Don's insight into public media still remains perfectly on point," says Moss Bresnahan, president and CEO of Illinois Public Media. "His simple message has guided us to work with community members to provide public media that serves their specific needs."

To honor Mullally and his continuing influence on Illinois Public Media, we are renaming our planned giving group the Donald P. Mullally Legacy Circle. "Don set the foundation for WILL to remain a strong and vital part of the central Illinois community with the creation of the Friends of WILL," said Ed Kieser, former chief meteorologist at WILL. "His vision and persistence to see it through is what makes for his lasting impact."

Both Day and Kieser agree Mullally would credit his employees for his successes. "I hope that he realized his impact on the station for years to come. He would be humbled by the honor and undoubtedly spread credit to many others that worked at WILL over the years," said Kieser. "I more than once heard him say 'I hire good people and then let them do their jobs.'" said Day. "He defined his management team's job responsibilities clearly and empowered them to carry them out."
