October 2020 Volume XLVIII, Number 4

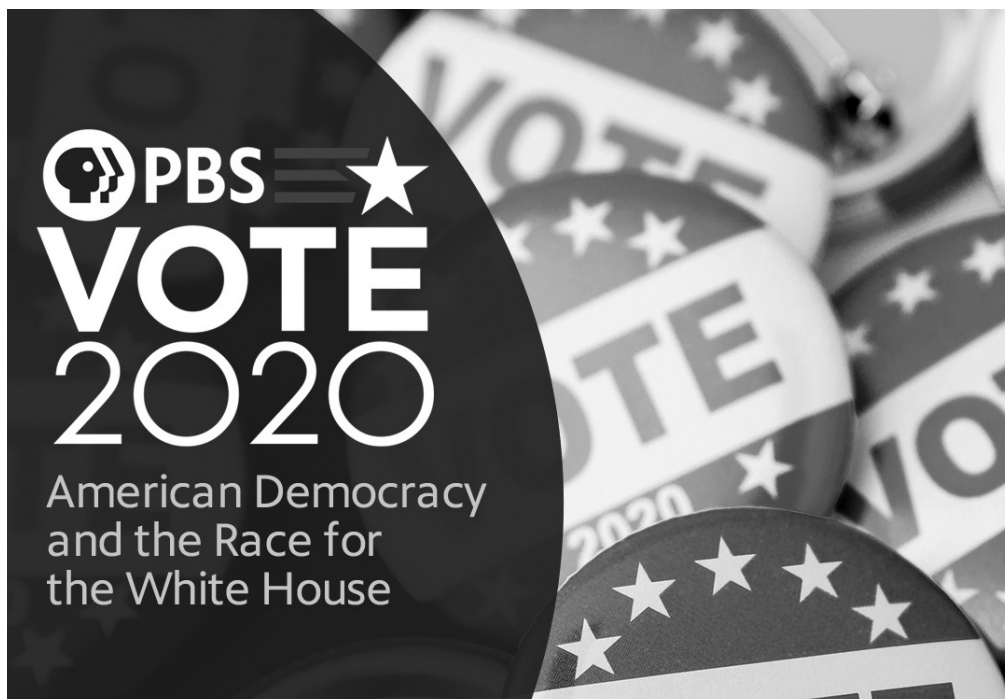

As I write, students are back on campus and coming to grips with studying and safe socializing during a pandemic. Meanwhile, we're helping the University produce a podcast to share details of its groundbreaking coronavirus testing. The podcast will tell the stories of the research, development, and administration of the University's attempts to keep students safe and on campus during this most unusual time.

It's also time to welcome a new group of student interns to the stations. The 2020-2021 Robert O. Endres internship winner Brielle Scullark and grad student Chantal Vaca will join The 21st team to produce segments. The 2020-2021 Donald P. Mullally internship winner Olivia Butts will work with Morning Edition host Brian Moline to launch the new daily news podcast 217 Today, and Gabby Castellanos in WILL's Outreach department will work on our Social Justice initiative. These University of Illinois students are important members of our team as we expand the reach of the WILL stations outside of the traditional broadcast signal.

Thank you for helping your public media stations thrive in these times when media is expanding to new digital spaces, all the while continuing to deliver news and information that is meaningful to all of us in central Illinois.

Illinois Newsroom has the election covered

Illinois Public Media, NPR, and PBS are your source for reliable, accurate, and balanced Election 2020 coverage.

Listen to Morning Edition with Brian Moline weekday mornings 6-9 am on WILL-AM 580, WILL-FM 90.9 or on the WILL App. Reporter Jim Meadows has a different election spotlight every Tuesday until Election Day. His coverage includes in-depth interviews with candidates from the 13th and 15th congressional districts, as well as coverage of the graduated income tax proposal, vote-by-mail issues, and more.

Then listen to The 21st with Brian Mackey Mondays-Thursdays at 11 am on WILL-AM 580 and 6 pm on WILL-FM 90.9. The show will highlight guests with insight on political topics across Illinois. Past episodes featured local leaders during the virtual Democratic and Republican National Conventions.

Go to IllinoisNewsroom.org/election2020 and share it with your friends and family. It's a voter's guide for central Illinois. There is a robust Frequently Asked Questions section, including registration and ballot deadline information. Our interviews with congressional candidates can also be found there. And if you have a question, use the Ask The Newsroom form and someone from our News Team will answer it.

On November 3, Election Night: watch WILL-TV Channel 12 for Live coverage from the PBS NewsHour Team. Or listen to WILL-AM 580 and WILL-FM 90.9 for up to the minute coverage from NPR as well as local results and reactions throughout the night from the WILL News Team.

In addition, IllinoisNewsroom.org (powered by Illinois Public Media) will have instant Associated Press results, including county by county breakdowns of the Presidential, US Senate and all Illinois congressional races.

Sesame Street gets the big band treatment

Sesame Street comes to Jazz at Lincoln Center (JLCO) for a swinging celebration of the show's 50th anniversary. See some of your favorite feathered and furry friends like Big Bird and Elmo sing classic Sesame Street songs alongside the world-renowned Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis on A Swingin' Sesame Street Celebration: 50 Years and Counting at 8 pm Friday, October 30.

It's hard to imagine Sesame Street without music. The iconic show has featured many unforgettable tunes performed by real jazz musicians like trumpeter Kenny Rampton, a longtime member of both the JLCO and the Sesame Street band.

Many of the jazz greats have visited Sesame Street over the past 50 years. It's where countless children were introduced to legends like Dizzy Gillespie, Herbie Hancock, and Mary Lou Williams. Even JLCO's Wynton Marsalis visited Sesame Street a few times. Likewise, the JLCO has reimagined Sesame Street favorites into big band bonanzas, and this celebration will feature brand-new arrangements of Sesame Street gems.

No one is too young or too old to enjoy this playful, intelligent, and joyful music—so come on down to the House of Swing, and help us celebrate 50 years of our wonderful neighbors from Sesame Street.

The most epic show

In September 2019, Metallica reunited for two incredible nights with the nearly 80-member San Francisco Symphony. Celebrating the 20th anniversary of the first S&M concert, these two sold-out performances were the first ever at the new Chase Center in Metallica's hometown San Francisco. Metallica's Lars Ulrich, James Hetfield, Kirk Hammett, and Robert Trujillo combined forces with the symphony, led by conductor Edwin Outwater, with a special appearance by legendary conductor and longtime San Francisco Symphony Musical Director Michael Tilson Thomas. Metallica and The San Francisco Symphony: S&M2 airs at 8 pm Thursday, October 29.

One of Lennon's finest

In 1970, John Lennon released Plastic Ono Band, his first post-Beatles album. Widely regarded as one of his finest, it is a fierce, raw, emotionally painful yet beautiful collection of some of the most personal and cathartic songs he ever wrote, including "Mother," "Love," "Working Class Hero," "Isolation," and "God." John Lennon—Plastic Ono Band, part of the multi-part British documentary series Classic Albums, explores the making of the album and features interviews with Yoko Ono, Ringo Starr, bassist Klaus Voormann, and others, along with archival footage and recorded interviews with an honest and open John Lennon. The episode airs at 8 pm Thursday, October 8.

Classic Albums is a British documentary series that celebrates the making of the greatest albums in pop, rock, and heavy metal music. Each episode features interviews with band members, producers, and others discussing the creation of the historic recording. Additional episodes of the series will be available exclusively to WILL members via PBS Passport, including:

- Pink Floyd—Dark Side of the Moon
- Fleetwood Mac—Rumours
- Carly Simon—No Secrets
- The Who—Who's Next
- Elton John—Goodbye Yellow Brick Road
- Queen—A Night at the Opera

The Upper West Side

This fall, as the world remembers John Lennon on what would have been his 80th birthday, and the 40th anniversary of his death, American Masters airs LENNONYC, a new film that takes an intimate look at the time Lennon, Yoko Ono, and their son Sean spent living in New York City during the 1970s. The film airs at 8 pm Friday, October 9.

"New York became a part of who John and I were," said Ono. "We couldn't have existed the same way anywhere else. We had a very special relationship with the city, which is why I continue to make this my home, and I think this film captures what that time was like for us very movingly."

As much as New York made an impact on Lennon and Ono by offering them an oasis of personal and creative freedom, so too did they shape the city. At a time when New York faced record high crime, economic fallout, and seemed to be on the verge of collapse, Lennon and Ono became a beloved fixture in neighborhood restaurants, at Central Park, at sports events, and at political demonstrations.

Lennon and Ono also bonded with millions of their fellow New Yorkers in their experience as immigrants. The film traces their struggle to remain in the US when the Nixon administration sought to deport them, supposedly based on a narcotics violation, but which Lennon insisted was in response to his anti-war activities.

Tell us what you think

Illinois Public Media is collaborating with America Amplified, a journalism initiative funded by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, to find ways to understand the needs and aspirations of central Illinoisans.

To that end, engagement producer and U of I student Eunice Alpasan has developed a “Text Club” for listeners to The 21st. You can join by texting TALK to 217- 803-0730. By joining our Texting Club – Eunice will send out a weekly question that you’re welcome to respond to and share your opinion. We may share your comments on The 21st, which is heard on five radios stations across Illinois. It’s a way to elevate your voice and participate in thoughtful conversations on Election 2020 and other stories in the news.

(DEMOCRAT)

13th Congressional District

The 13th congressional district in Illinois includes all or parts of Champaign-Urbana, Decatur, Springfield, and Bloomington-Normal, and East St. Louis.

Republican Rodney Davis has represented the district in the House since 2012, and he narrowly won reelection to the seat two years ago in a close race with Democratic challenger Betsy Dirksen Londrigan. This year the two face off again in what is shaping up to be another heated election.

Voting with confidence in 2020

With all the recent headlines around voting focusing on national stories, many Illinoisans may not realize the best source for accurate information is their county election official.

Elections are administered locally by the state's 108 election authorities. Most election authorities are your locally-elected county clerks. They have many responsibilities including overseeing local voter registration programs, training

15th Congressional District

Illinois' 15th congressional district is massive—larger, even, than the state of Maryland. It stretches north to Rantoul, south to the Kentucky border, and west toward East St. Louis.

This year, the district's long-standing representative, John Shimkus (R) is retiring, and Republican Mary Miller and Democrat Erika Weaver are vying to replace him.

election judges, select polling places, getting ballots printed, overseeing Election Day activities, and supervising the vote count at the local level.

Illinois Newsroom is collaborating with some of the county clerks in the areas where you live to provide you with timely, updated information about the 2020 election. We have created a series of short videos about topics of interest to voters, including mail-in ballots. You can find these videos and much more election coverage and information on our special election page here:

The ticket to success

Local elections in Middle America are not often fodder for national news coverage. While 24-hour news cycles keep us focused on national partisan battles, there are multilayered, interpersonal dynamics at play in local elections that mirror – and sometimes predict – the ebb and flow of America’s large scale political landscape. Leading up to the 2018 midterm elections in the heart of the Midwest, three women take on entrenched local political networks in their fight to reshape politics on their own terms. Through the nuances of local politics, Represent scrutinizes the systems that have failed historically underrepresented candidates, and bears witness to unseen leaders striving at the heart of our “smallest” elections. The film by Independent Lens airs at 9 pm Monday, October 26.

Whose Vote Counts

Allegations of voter fraud and disenfranchisement are making headlines in the lead up to the 2020 election. In partnership with Columbia Graduate School of Journalism, New Yorker writer Jelani Cobb investigates how the pandemic is being used to sway turnout. Frontline explores Whose Vote Counts at 9 pm Tuesday, October 20.

The sleeping giant

Told through a series of immersive dispatches from the battleground states of Nevada, Texas, Florida, and Pennsylvania, Latino Vote: Dispatches from the Battleground follows the efforts of grassroots organizers, community leaders, and political operatives working to ensure Latino voter turnout. The special from VOCES airs at 8 pm Tuesday, October 6.
