April 2023 Vol. XLVIII, No. 10

In this issue of Patterns, you'll find highlights from our 2022 Annual Report. You may remember that last year was a pretty big year for us (100 years!). After spending the past year celebrating our important legacy, we are focused on building that legacy into our next century.

We continue to look for ways to evolve and reach new audiences. While you may love tuning in to The 21st every day like me, others love the opportunity to catch up on their favorite programs on their bus ride home from work. Ensuring you can access your favorite WILL, PBS, and NPR shows how you want and when you want remains a priority for us.

This was one of our guiding principles when we had the opportunity to create programming around a recent visit from Christian McBride, host of FM's Jazz Night in America. We wanted to be able to offer short- and long-form interviews in audio and video format. Both programs will premiere during WILL's jazz celebration, kicking off April 20 and running through International Jazz Day on April 30 (more on page 1).

We also will continue to host public events that encourage community discussion, with built-in digital outreach to help us reach a wider audience. The next in the News, Brews & Beatz series will begin at 6 pm Monday, April 17, at Pour Bros. Craft Taproom, and it will stream on YouTube as well. See newsbrewsbeatz.org for more details.

As media continues to evolve, we remain committed to the core value of local public media: making great content available for everyone across our region.

Thank you for helping to make it possible.

COVER STORY

Illinois Public Media celebrates all things jazz with Christian McBride

Jazz legend Christian McBride visited the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign last spring. He spent most of the week working with students in the School of Music through master classes, culminating in a performance of his work "The Movement Revisited: A Musical Portrait of Four Icons" at Krannert Center for the Performing Arts.

Many of you will recognize McBride through his work as host of NPR's Jazz Night in America, which airs weekly on WILL FM-90.9.

Illinois Public Media documented McBride's campus visit, including interviews and time spent in his master class and at his performance. We put together two programs that celebrate the eight-time Grammy Award winner just in time for Jazz Month and International Jazz Day (April 30).

In the first release from our newly revamped Prairie Fire series, we follow along as McBride spends time with students in preparation for his Krannert Center performance, which included both campus and communitywide choirs. McBride says his own experiences learning from jazz legends like Max Roach, Freddie Hubbard, Betty Carter, and others have led him to pay it forward to the next generation of musicians.

"I thought if I were ever in that same position, to be able to talk to some young musicians coming up, no-brainer for me, I'm always down to do that," McBride said.

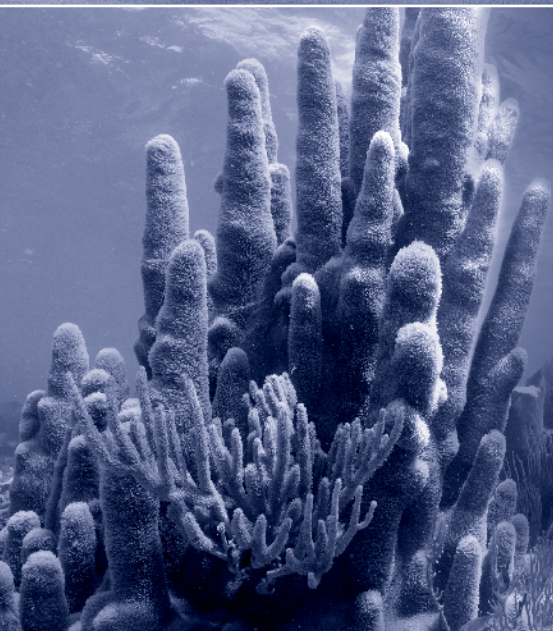

WILL-TV viewers can watch the premiere of this Prairie Fire short at 7 pm Thursday, April 20. You can stream it at any time at will.illinois.edu/prairiefire, starting that same day.

Brian Moline also had a chance to sit down for an hourlong interview with McBride discussing his life in music. "I feel very fortunate to have had this opportunity to talk with a musician who I have admired since he first came to prominence on the jazz scene in the late 1980s," Moline said. "Christian McBride is one of the best jazz bassists to ever play the instrument, and I'm so glad my last project at Illinois Public Media is sharing with our listeners how he went from a young boy in Philadelphia to a true jazz legend."

You can hear the premiere of Gettin' to It: The Jazz Life of Christian McBride at 11 am Friday, April 21, on WILL-AM 580 and later at 8 pm on WILL-FM. You also can stream the program starting April 20 at will.illinois.edu.

A story of hope in troubling times

Nature reveals the amazing discovery of an enormous coral reef when a Guatemalan fisherman struggling to feed his family is forced further offshore and discovers an unknown reef. It is brimming with life and big fish the likes of which haven't been seen before. When a handful of scientists find out, they conspire with local fishers to keep the reef a secret. If word gets out, the reef will be plundered by a host of forces. Airing at 7 pm Wednesday, April 26, The Secret Crown is a rich mix of adventure, natural history, and cutting-edge conservation science told against a ticking clock.

‘Changing Planet’ returns for season 2

In its second season, Changing Planet revisits six of our planet's most vulnerable ecosystems and catches up with the inspiring people introduced in the first series, including scientists and local experts fighting to safeguard their communities and wildlife. The series charts the progress of their game-changing environmental projects. Conservation scientist M. Sanjayan, at left, hosts this year's episodes from Australia, a country on the front lines of climate change both in terms of its devastating effects but also potential solutions. Moving between Australia and the show's six hubs — from the Arctic to the Amazon — these vulnerable habitats are changing, revealing surprising animal behaviors as species adapt. Season 2 begins at 8 pm Wednesday, April 19.

Female inventor was the first to harness solar power

American Experience shares the story of chemical engineer and inventor Mária Telkes, who spent nearly 50 years exploring how to harness the sun's power. She also was beset by rampant sexism and fought pitched battles with her male boss and colleagues at MIT. Despite these obstacles, she persevered helping to build an experimental solar-powered house in 1971. Upon her death in 1995, she held more than 20 patents. Telkes is now recognized as a visionary pioneer in the field of sustainable energy. Her research and innovations from the 1930s through the '70s continue to shape how we power our lives today. The Sun Queen airs at 8 pm Tuesday, April 4, and again at 10 pm Wednesday, April 5.

The race to combat climate change

NOVA examines the impact of climate change and looks at possible solutions:

At 8 pm Wednesday, April 5, Arctic Sinkholes investigates colossal explosions in Siberia and other evidence that rapidly melting soil in the Arctic is releasing vast amounts of methane, a potent greenhouse gas. How will this impact our climate future?

At 8 pm Wednesday, April 12, Weathering the Future examines the climate challenges facing Americans of different ethnic, regional, and economic backgrounds. It also explores the inventive but evidence-based solutions they have devised to reverse the trends, rebuild the ecosystem, and recover from our addiction to carbon-based energy sources.

At 8 pm Wednesday, April 26, Chasing Carbon Zero takes a hard look at the United States' ambitious goal of zero carbon emissions by 2050. Find out why there is still hope that we can achieve carbon zero in time to avoid the worst impacts of climate change. And what are the most likely real-world technologies that could be up to the task?

Illinois is in a 'State of Change'

Enjoy our encore presentations of episodes 1 and 2 of State of Change at 10 pm Tuesday, April 11 on WILL-TV. Illinois Public Media environmental reporter Tinisha Spain examines the evolving climate crisis in Illinois.

Episode 1 looks at how Illinois' environment is changing now and could change in the future. Farmers are racing to protect livestock from rising heat, invasive species are on the rise, a fossil fuel debate rages, and America's national bird is back from the brink.

Carbon is a key to life on Earth. In episode 2, we learn more about carbon and how it is shaping climate change as well as what people and researchers right here in Illinois are doing to lessen that environmental footprint.

New romantic British period drama premieres

One of the greatest novels in the English language comes to MASTERPIECE in a four-part adaptation of Henry Fielding's "The History of Tom Jones, A Foundling." The novel has delighted and scandalized readers since it was originally published in 1749. The miniseries gives a new twist to the tale of an illegitimate young man's love for a beautiful heiress. The series stars Solly McLeod as the handsome, resourceful title character, and Sophie Wilde as the beautiful and bright, seemingly unattainable love of his life. In 18th-century England, their class differences makes their journey to find each other complicated and treacherous. Tom Jones on MASTERPIECE begins at 8 pm Sunday, April 30.

Exploring America's iconic national symbols

The new eight-episode documentary series Iconic America: Our Symbols and Stories with David Rubenstein explores America's 400-year history through a close examination of iconic national symbols. Premiering at 9 pm Wednesday, April 26, host David Rubenstein talks with historical thinkers, community members, and subject matter experts. Together, they dive deeply into each symbol's history and how its meaning has changed over time, providing a gateway to understanding America's past and present. Each episode tells the story of an American symbol, including the Hollywood sign, Fenway Park, American cowboys, the Gadsden Flag ("Don't Tread On Me"), the American bald eagle, Stone Mountain, the Statue of Liberty, and the Golden Gate Bridge.

Explore Niagara Falls and meet those that call it home

Niagara Falls is a geological wonder, one of the most famous waterfalls in the world and an epic sight for tourists who have been visiting the attraction for 200 years. It is made up of three separate waterfalls: Horseshoe Falls, American Falls, and Bridal Veil Falls. All together, the three cascades form the second largest waterfall in the world that is thought to be the world's fastest-moving waterfall. The area around Niagara Falls is home to a wide variety of wildlife, including mammals, birds, reptiles, and amphibians. Emmy Award-winning filmmaker Joseph Pontecorvo filmed Niagara Falls over the course of a year and documented the stunning beauty of this iconic North American natural resource and the wildlife that calls it home. Nature premieres Niagara Falls at 7 pm Wednesday, April 19.

Retracing family histories

My Grandparent's War returns for a second season with a new slate of leading Hollywood actors and performers re-tracing the footsteps of their grandparents to learn how World War II changed the lives of their families and the world. Kit Harington discovers the lengths his grandparents went to for love and country, and singer-songwriter Emeli Sandé learns of her grandparents' courage during wartime. As for Keira Knightley and Toby Jones, they will both uncover new stories of each of their grandparents' amazing wartime feats. Don't miss the return of My Grandparent's War, Tuesday nights at 8 pm beginning April 11.

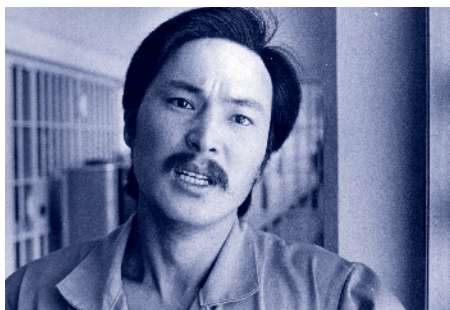

Culinary series travels along US-Mexico border

Savor the sights, sounds, and flavors of the U.S.-Mexico border alongside acclaimed James Beard Award-winning chef Pati Jinich, who returns as host of La Frontera with Pati Jinich. Known for the long-running Pati's Mexican Table, Jinich meets with artists, musicians, athletes, and local legends, whose work reflects the blending of Mexican, American, and other cultures, as well as the chefs and home cooks who bring people together around the table. Season 2 of La Frontera with Pati Jinich begins at 8 pm Monday, April 3. Stream Season 1 on the PBS app via Passport.

The story of a wrongly convicted immigrant

John O'Hara / San Francisco Chronicle / Polaris

Independent Lens presents the rollercoaster life story of Chul Soo Lee, a Korean immigrant wrongfully convicted of murder. Sentenced to life for a 1973 San Francisco murder, Lee was set free after a Pan-Asian solidarity movement — including Korean, Japanese, and Chinese Americans — helped to overturn his conviction. After 10 years of fighting for his life inside California state prisons, Lee found himself in a new fight to rise to the expectations of the people who believed in him. Free Chul Soo Lee airs at 9 pm Monday, April 24.

Auschwitz survivor reveals long-held secret

At 94, David "Saba" Wisnia had never fully revealed to his family how he survived Auschwitz. He had always said he survived by entertaining his Nazi captors with his beautiful singing voice. How Saba Kept Singing documents David and his grandson Avi's journey to explore the mystery of David's past, including traveling to David's hometown in Poland and to Auschwitz. Eventually, David reveals a lost love from Auschwitz, and the two are reunited after more than 70 years.

The film was directed, written, and produced by Sara Taksler and executive produced by Hillary Rodham Clinton and Chelsea Clinton. How Saba Kept Singing airs at 9 pm Tuesday April 18.

Modern art and the artists behind it

Art in the Twenty-First Century returns for season 11 and explores the work of 12 artists through three thematic lenses: "Everyday Icons," "Bodies of Knowledge," and "Friends & Strangers." From Theaster Gates and Marina Abramović to Ai Weiwei and Kara Walker, Art21's Peabody Award-winning series documents the work of the most groundbreaking contemporary artists from across the globe. The first episode, Everyday Icons, features Amy Sherald, Rose B. Simpson, Alex Da Corte, and Daniel Lind-Ramos as they build new and exciting visual worlds and question the monuments and icons that came before. Art21: Art in the Twenty-First Century at 10 pm Friday, April 7.

Revisit Inspector Lewis on Passport

Get ready for the last season of Endeavour by revisiting MASTERPIECE's Inspector Lewis, now available to stream with Passport. Kevin Whately stars as the titular Lewis, the former working-class foil to the erudite Detective Inspector Morse. Together with his cerebral partner Detective Sergeant James Hathaway, Lewis tackles murder and mayhem in the seemingly-perfect academic haven of Oxford. In a partnership forged through loyalty and mutual respect — though often grudging — Robbie Lewis untangles lies and murky motives with his combination of instinct and experience while Hathaway, with his wit as sharp as his reason, handles suspects and classical allusions with the same deft intellect. Stream season 1 through 8 today.

ILLINOIS PUBLIC MEDIA OUR NEXT CENTURY

2022 ANNUAL REPORT

2022 marked 100 years of WILL-AM, and throughout our celebrations we acknowledged the visionaries from the University of Illinois who saw the powerful potential of broadcast back in 1922 and honored the staff who came after and helped form the public media mission we still hold true to today. One hundred years later, the road ahead is just as exciting as the day we first signed on. Digital technology gives us new ways to connect with people. Our local newsroom continues to grow, and we have award-winning local programs in production with more on the horizon.

A toast to the golden age of hi-fi

We welcomed a new local show to the WILL-FM lineup. Created and hosted by Jason Croft, Atomic Age Cocktail Party premiered on Jan. 1 and has been celebrating the golden age of the hi-fi and beyond every weekend since. In 2022, the show had 50 original shows, with themes bringing together music from Great American Songbook, Broadway musicals, classic movies, and other familiar standards.

The people behind an American pastime

Over the summer, Illinois Public Media Productions presented a new documentary. County Fair took an intimate look at a treasured American pastime through the lives of six people whose passion, preparation, and pride come together at the 2021 Champaign County Fair. The stories of a seamstress, a demolition derby driver, a circus performer, a French fry vendor, and twin sisters who show cows had us looking at this summer tradition in a brand-new light.

Won't you be my neighbor?

In August, we hosted a special Be My Neighbor event during Champaign-Urbana Days at Douglass Park. We distributed 300 back-to-school bags filled with socks, dental hygiene kits, books, and fun at-home activities, plus Daniel Tiger had a blast meeting with fans big and small. The highlight for us though was the opportunity to come together and practice being a caring neighbor with all of you, making cards for local senior citizens, teachers, and nurses.

Going into the Midterms informed

As we prepared to cast our votes in November, our news team was hard at work building an election center. This served as a comprehensive voter's guide, with news coverage, an FAQ section, registration and ballot deadline information, candidate interviews, and a truth test for candidate claims. On top of that, Illinois Public Media hosted several live debates for the 13th Congressional District.

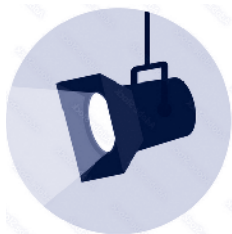

Elevating voices from The Middle

In October, we were honored to host the inaugural episode of a new national call-in series, The Middle. This special four-part series was created by award-winning journalist and Champaign-Urbana native Jeremy Hobson and focused on elevating the voices of those who live between the coasts. The Middle aired over the four weeks leading up to and through the midterm election, and Illinois Public Media served as the distribution partner, providing the technical support to deliver the program to more than 350 stations across the country.

community advisor SPOTLIGHT

In this feature, we introduce members of Illinois Public Media's Community Advisors. Members assist us in many ways, including gathering information about community issues and needs, increasing community awareness of IPM and its services, and encouraging new sources of funding for specific projects.

Kathy Valdes, Mahomet

Q. How long have you lived in our region?

A. We moved to the area from northern California when my husband took a job at the University of Illinois in 2011. As a longtime fan and supporter of KQED in San Francisco, I became a supporter of Illinois Public Media soon after our arrival.

Q. How long have you been on this committee?

A. I joined the advisory committee in August 2020, which was an odd time to join a group as we sheltered in place. Our committee meetings have been via Zoom, and I unfortunately have not had any in-person contact.

Q. Why do you think it's important to have community members available to offer direct feedback to IPM?

A. Accountability may be why the board was originally formed. Staff from IPM give us detailed updates and reports at every meeting so that we are aware of accomplishments, challenges, financial health, and short- and long-term goals. The advisory group provides valuable feedback. I have been impressed with the talented and dedicated staff at IPM and all the amazing things Illinois Public Media offers, which now includes podcasts, local radio and television offerings, and streaming through Passport. So in addition to providing suggestions, we also let them know how much their great work is appreciated.

Q. What are your favorite shows that air on WILL's stations?

A. MASTERPIECE with its many fabulous series over the years. Other favorites are Call The Midwife, Lucy Worsley's history programs, Antiques Roadshow, and, of course, the news programs. Mid-American Gardner and The 21st are my favorite locally produced shows. These are the first to come to mind; there is so much more.

Q. Why do you think IPM/public media is important for central Illinois?

A. I rely on PBS for national news reporting and impartial analysis but really appreciate the local coverage. Even though resources are finite, IPM does a lot of local reporting and addresses local issues that are important to central Illinois. IPM provides excellent local election coverage and presents candidate debates. The 21st gives in-depth coverage on a variety of issues that are important to our region. IPM is an important resource for news, information, education, and high quality entertainment. Finally, WILL Passport is a treasure chest of quality programs and local productions.

WILL101

As we celebrate our 101 years on the air this month, we thought it might be fun to launch WILL 101, a space to learn more about the inner workings of a public media station, both traditionally and in the modern era. Have you ever wondered what we mean when we talk about "traffic"? Or what it means to be a dual licensee based at a public university? As with many industries, public media is full of insider terminology, and we think it is about time we clear up any confusion and satisfy those curiosities. We want to hear from you. Let us know what terms, abbreviations, or behind-the-scenes operations you are curious about and we'll answer your questions in this space.

Send us your question in an email to will-membership@illinois.edu with WILL 101 as the subject. Then be on the lookout for our first WILL 101 feature in next month's issue. Class is officially in session!

A farewell to Brian Moline

For the last seven and a half years, Brian Moline has risen before the rooster calls to deliver the latest in local news, weather, sports — and the occasional sprinkling of jazz — into our morning routines. Moline has provided the soundtrack to our morning commutes, and even during the pandemic lockdown, he helped ground our days and connect us to our community.

On March 2, we said farewell to our friend and Morning Edition host and wished him well as he headed south to St Louis Public Radio. Moline accepted a position as an editor in their newsroom, working with a group of journalists on some bigger reporting projects. This move was both a personal and professional move. “My wife and I also have family and friends in the St. Louis area, so it will be nice to be closer to them. And as much as I have loved being on-air in the mornings, it will also be nice to sleep in a bit later each day.”

Moline has been a recognized voice throughout central Illinois for decades. Before coming to Illinois Public Media, he worked as a news and sports host at WDWS/WHMS/WKIO radio in Champaign for 15 years. Moline hosted and produced the weekday WDWS News Hour, SportsTalk, and postgame shows for University of Illinois football and men’s basketball. He was also a play-by-play commentator for Illini sports, high school sports, and Little League baseball broadcasts.

Moline spoke highly of his time here at Illinois Public Media, saying it will always have a special place in his heart. “There is truly something special about working for a station that has been part of the community for more than 100 years, and it wouldn’t be possible without the listener support we receive. Plus, there are truly special people who work at these stations, and I’ll miss working with all of them very much.”

And the team will miss him as well. “I speak for the news team when I say Brian is steadfast, reliable, and kind. I am eternally grateful that he helped guide our newsroom’s day-to-day coverage while I learned about central Illinois culture,” said Reginald Hardwick, director of news and public affairs at Illinois Public Media. “He’s a marathoner, Chicago Cubs fan, and loving family man. He knows as much about the Illinois Capitol as he does Wrigley or Soldier Fields.”

We all have our own fond memories of Moline and his time with us, but many agree among the top was in 2016 when Says You! was recorded in front of an audience at Lincoln Hall on the University of Illinois campus and Moline was a panelist. This is one of his favorite moments of his time at Illinois Public Media, and one he will take with him. “It was so much fun, even though Illinois entomology professor May Berenbaum wiped the floor with me in both games we played that evening!”

Arthouse features a story of friendship, revenge

Arthouse EXPERIENCE

Oskar, a bullied 12-year old, dreams of revenge. He then falls in love with the new girl next door, who has been 12 for over 200 years.

The duo are featured in the R-rated “Let the Right One In,” an acclaimed Swedish vampire story. The 2008 film will be shown at 7 pm Wednesday, April 26, as part of The Arthouse Experience Film Series at the Virginia Theatre, 203 W. Park Ave., Champaign.

Hosted by Illinois Public Media and the Champaign Park District, films in the series are limited-release, high-quality titles that have captured the imagination of movie lovers. Films will be followed by a post-show discussion and in some cases an on-stage talk by directors, producers, and other special guests.

General admission tickets ($7 per film) are available at the Virginia Theatre box office, online at thevirginia.org, or charge by phone at 217-356-9063.
