June 2023 Vol. XLVIII, No. 12

June is significant for several reasons. It offers the chance for us to honor African American culture on Juneteenth. It marks the beginning of a new season and the longest day of the year. And summer gives us the chance to soak up some sunshine, have fun, travel with family, and make memories.

June is also Pride Month, a chance to celebrate the LGBTQ+ community and fight for equality. We are pleased to share with you a powerful film about a group of moms — many of whom grew up as fundamentalist, evangelical Christians — willing to risk losing friends, family, and faith communities to keep their LGBTQ+ children safe. Not only will you be able to watch Mama Bears on WILL-TV, I hope you will join us for a special screening of the film followed by a panel discussion at the Virginia Theatre as a part of the Reel Midwest Film Festival. You can find more information on page 1.

Finally, for us here at Illinois Public Media, June marks the end of our fiscal year. This means whatever donations we receive by June 30, directly impact our programming and production options for the next 12 months and beyond. As we send Patterns off to print, we still have another $250,000 to raise to meet our fundraising goal for the end of our fiscal year. If you are due for renewal or are able to make an additional gift, you can do that online at willgive.org.

Your support means we can plan for short-term and long-term projects. Thank you for being such a valued Friend of WILL. It's your partnership that allows us to ensure our entire region has access to the best in news, arts, and culture — now and into the future.

COVER STORY

Once Kimberly Shappley accepted her transgender daughter, Kai, she transformed from a Tea Party Republican to an award-winning 'LGBTQ Activist of the Year.'

LGBTQ PRIDE MONTH

Screening, broadcast premiere: 'Mama Bears' tells story of transformation

Spread across the country but connected through private Facebook groups, they call themselves "mama bears" because while their love is warm and fuzzy, they fight ferociously for their children's rights and to make the world kinder and safer for all LGBTQ+ people. Although some may have grown up as fundamentalist, evangelical Christians, these mothers are willing to risk losing friends, family, and faith communities to keep their offspring safe.

Mama Bears is an intimate, thought-provoking film that explores the journeys taken by two mothers whose love for their LGBTQ children has turned them into fierce advocates for the entire queer community. It also introduces a young lesbian whose struggle for self-acceptance exemplifies why the mama bears are so vitally important.

Mama Bears airs on Independent Lens at 9 pm Tuesday, June 20, on WILL-TV. We also invite you to join us at the Virginia Theatre at 7 pm Friday, June 30, for a screening and discussion of the film as part of our Reel Midwest Film Festival.

"We look forward to a vibrant discussion with local mama bears and LGBTQ+ people from central Illinois after watching the film together on June 30," said Kimberlie Kranich, director of engagement and educational outreach. "We will take questions from the audience and talk about the challenges and hope."

The film is part of the theater's monthly Arthouse Experience Film Series. Tickets are available at the Virginia Theatre box office, online at thevirginia.org, or charge by phone at 217-356-9063.

The story of trans haven Casa Susanna

In the sexually repressive 1960s, a small Catskills resort became a popular weekend destination and a clandestine haven for cross-dressing men and transgender women. With only old photographs and the oral histories from two of the surviving members of this early chapter of trans identity, Casa Susanna, airing on American Experience at 8 pm Tuesday, June 27, tells a story rich in extraordinary characters — including the famous Susanna Valenti, who had the courage to create this refuge where the persecuted and frightened found freedom and acceptance.

An intimate look at Little Richard

Little Richard rightfully stakes a claim to inventing rock 'n' roll. A Black artist who grew up in the segregated south, Richard Penniman broke down barriers and took 1950's America by storm. Many drew inspiration from his musicianship and stagecraft, yet he often felt his contributions were overlooked. On top of that, the inner conflict between his religious beliefs and the music style he pioneered along with his battles with his own sexuality led him to quit rock 'n' roll more than once. American Masters presents Little Richard: The King and Queen of Rock and Roll at 8 pm Friday, June 2.

IN RECOGNITION OF JUNETEENTH

The history of Black soldiers in America

Established by Congress in 1867, the 14th Amendment promised citizenship in exchange for military enlistment, prompting many African American men to join. But they ultimately were denied this right due to Jim Crow laws established during the Reconstruction Era. In spite of this, many men served. Buffalo Soldiers: Fighting on Two Fronts combines a multitude of diverse perspectives and examines the profound and often contradictory roles they played in American history, and how they fought on two front lines: military conflicts abroad and civil rights struggles at home. The film airs at 9 pm Monday, June 12.

Chicago journalist, suffragist featured

There are few historical figures whose life and work speak to the current moment more than Ida B. Wells, the 19th-century crusading investigative journalist, civil rights leader, and passionate suffragist. As her descendants began to fear the influential and inspirational Black woman from Chicago was on the verge of being forgotten, Wells received a posthumous Pulitzer Prize citation, and Chicago named a street after her. A revealing film by her great-granddaughter Michelle Duster, Ida B. Wells: American Stories tells her story as never before at 10 pm Monday, June 19.

PRAIRIE & FIRE

WILL's monthly magazine show Prairie Fire features central Illinois stories at 7:30 pm Thursday, June 15:

- Our feature on artist and sculptor Preston Jackson with a visit to Contemporary Art Center of Peoria and Peoria Riverfront Museum. We focus on his long career, his accomplishments, and his recent projects.
- A visit with recording engineer, producer, and artist Anthony Gravino, who relocated from Chicago and set up his lucrative studio in what was a historic Urbana barn.
- Tinisha Spain travels to Japan House for a bit of history about the Cherry Blossom trees as the man who donated the trees recently celebrated his 100th birthday.
- Charles Dickens gets some airtime to express his distinct dislike of the Illinois prairie. Dickens is brought to life by guest voice artist Alan Parker, a University of Illinois professor emeritus. Bah Humbug.

Fighting to be a Black cowboy in urban LA

When a mysterious fire wipes out the Hill Stable — the last public stable in South Central Los Angeles — a culture of urban cowboys comes under threat. This documentary follows the life and struggles of three inner-city cowboys and the line they must walk between the gang-filled streets of LA and the path of an American Black cowboy.

Fire on the Hill: The Cowboys of South Central LA airs at 10 pm Monday, June 12.

Exploring Black pride and racial trauma

Filmmaker Jon-Sesrie Goff, right, and his father.

The independent film After Sherman documents how wisdom is imparted between generations of African Americans. Georgetown, South Carolina, is a community deeply rooted in Gullah culture, from coastal Southern recipes to incantations for survival. Filmmaker Jon-Sesrie Goff spent childhood summers there. In the aftermath of a shooting at his parents' church, Goff began to create the film about his community's collective American inheritance. The film comprises intimate accounts of the lives of the Black community in the filmmaker's Black Belt hometown. After Sherman airs on POV at 9 pm Monday, June 26.

'Great Performances at the Met' premieres 'Medea'

Great Performances at the Met presents Medea at 8 pm Friday, June 16. Sondra Radvanovsky portrays the mythic sorceress in this Met premiere of Cherubini's rarely performed masterpiece. This marks Radvanovsky's fourth new production with director David McVicar, who also designed the sets for this staging. Joining Radvanovsky are tenor Matthew Polenzani as Medea's husband, Giasone; soprano Janai Brugger as her rival for his love, Glauce; bass Michele Pertusi as her father, Creonte, the King of Corinth; and mezzo-soprano Ekaterina Gubanova as Medea's confidante, Neris. Maestro Carlo Rizzi conducts. Joyce DiDonato hosts.

Morse franchise comes to an end

Inspector Morse
(1987-2000)

Inspector Lewis
(2006-2015)

Endeavour
(2012-2022)

Endeavour on MASTERPIECE comes to a brilliant end in its ninth and final season beginning at 8 pm Sunday, June 18. Shaun Evans as the young Morse and Roger Allam as his superior officer face intriguing new crimes, including an unsolved case linked to the past. With characters from former seasons popping up in a grand finale, Morse must resolve his professional and romantic future.

Prior to the premiere of the final three episodes, go behind the scenes of Endeavour with the all-new documentary Morse and the Last Endeavour: A MASTERPIECE Mystery! Special, airing at 8:30 pm Sunday, June 11. Look back at the nine seasons of Endeavour and the journey taken to bring the epic series to an end. The retrospective features Shaun Evans, Abigail Thaw, Kevin Whately, and many more.

The cerebral TV detective Endeavour Morse first materialized in the bestselling crime novels by Colin Dexter. Morse was a fascinating new sort of cop: a sensitive soul in love with opera and poetry, not stereotypically weary and hard drinking. Inspector Morse (produced 1987-2000) starred John Thaw as Detective Chief Inspector Morse and Kevin Whately as Sergeant Lewis. That series generated the sequel Inspector Lewis (2006-2015), with Whately continuing in the role. The prequel, Endeavour (2012-2022), stars Shaun Evans as the young Detective Constable Morse, set in 1965.

MORE DRAMA

Ridley, a new British police procedural drama, premieres at 7 pm Sunday, June 18, with Adrian Dunbar in the role of former detective inspector Alex Ridley in four stand-alone stories, each airing in two parts. After an early retirement, Ridley is brought back in by his replacement and former protege DI Carol Farman to serve as a consultant and advise on a complex and compelling murder case.

Season 2 of Before We Die premieres at 10 pm Sunday, June 25. This powerful Swedish thriller features nail-biting action and a unique, compelling twist about Hanna Svensson, a tough police officer whose highly developed sense of right and wrong is more powerful than any family tie. From Walter Presents, in Swedish with English subtitles.

Grantchester: Investigating Life's Mysteries goes behind the scenes with the cast and creators of the English mystery series with a handsome young vicar at the center of local crimes and murders. The series offers a winning combination of a delightful and appealing amateur sleuth, articulate writing, and engaging mysteries to solve. The special airs at 7 pm Sunday, June 11.

JUNE 4 QUEER YOUTH RESILIENCE AND MENTAL HEALTH

Every day queer teens and young adults are challenged by the politicization of gender identity and sexual orientation — along with increased levels of discrimination. At a time when LGBTQ+ youth face continued fights around their identity as well as gaps in mental health support and representation in mental health providers ... how are Queer youth staying resilient amid continued barriers?

JUNE 11 WITNESS HISTORY: PRIDE MONTH

A special hourlong edition of Witness History from the BBC World Service includes remarkable stories of LGBTQ+ rights, told by the people who were there. We meet the first openly gay political candidate in the U.S., revisit the first Pride March in the U.K., and hear about the diaries of the woman commonly referred to as “the first modern lesbian.”

JUNE 18 JUNETEENTH: REMEMBRANCE AND CELEBRATION

This special uses music from Black American composers to highlight progress and the pain that has been held in the community at large. Using the commemoration of the emancipation of all those who had been enslaved in the United States as a starting point, the special will face our country's racist past and present in a tapestry of sounds.

JUNE 25 THE ONE RECIPE SUMMER CELEBRATIONS

Join host Jesse Sparks for a celebratory summer edition of The Splendid Table's newest “podbaby”: The One Recipe. Jesse talks to culinary superstars about their summer entertaining strategies. They'll discuss the recipes that work for a crowd and explore cooking traditions and foods with influences from all over the world.

Early childhood educators recognized

WILL Education honored early childhood educators and volunteers from central Illinois at its Early Childhood Champions reception on May 12.

At the event, these four 2023 Early Childhood Champions were recognized:

Very Important Person

- Renelta Lawrence, Champaign County Regional Planning Commission, Early Childhood Education Program.
- Judy Woodall, Bradley Learning Center, Champaign.

Emerging Professional

- Dominic Pagliara, Garden Hills Academy, Champaign.

Professional of the Year

- Anna Rice, Campus Cooperative Preschool, Urbana.

In addition to an awards plaque, brothers of Lone Star Lodge #18, PHA F&AM, provided a monetary gift to each of the award recipients.

EARLY CHILDHOOD

This event marks a multiyear effort by WILL Education to recognize early childhood professionals in central Illinois. The event aims to raise public awareness of the critical work they do.

“The Early Childhood Champions awards program is an opportunity for WILL Education to thank the teachers, parents, child care providers, community members, family, and friends, that are vital to the development of our littlest learners,” said Kellie Blanden, Illinois Public Media assistant director of outreach and professional development. “These folks help lay the foundation for a child’s learning path and are often times overlooked and honestly underpaid. We just want them to know that we appreciate all that they do!”

This program is our local effort in support of the national PBS KIDS Early Learning Champions.

Join our history tour as we ride private rail cars from Galesburg, IL to Albuquerque, NM. A few highlights of the trip are visits to the Acoma Pueblo-Sky Cultural Center, the Glorieta Pass Monument, and the Albuquerque International Balloon Fiesta as well as other Albuquerque and Santa Fe sights. Space is limited so don't delay in making your reservation.

For more information or to make your reservation, call tour coordinator Becky Luka at 217-422-5002 or e-mail her at becky@tourgroupplanners.com.

Stream now: parenting Black children, teens

Panelists discussed parenting Black children and teens in our most recent installment of News, Brews & Beatz. If you missed the live event in April, you can view it on our YouTube channel, @IllinoisPublicMedia, or at newsbrewsbeatz.org.

A panel of community experts discussed the challenges of raising Black children in 2023 and what has changed over the decades.

Panelists discussed everything from having “the talk,” addressing a child’s cultural identity and self-esteem in predominantly white spaces, to navigating the challenges of social media with today’s peer pressure and code switching.

In addition, with our full archives, you can explore past events that have included discussions on gun violence, housing and economics, education, and other critical community issues.

Illinois Public Media’s News, Brews & Beatz strives to provide a space for diverse voices to engage in breakthrough conversations regarding pressing community issues and allow for realistic solutions to be identified.

WILL101

As we celebrate our 101st year on the air, this column will answer questions about the inner workings of a public media station. Email your questions to will-membership@illinois.edu with “WILL 101” in the subject line. Class is officially in session!

I always hear about the Corporation for Public Broadcasting? Is that just another name for PBS and NPR?

The Corporation for Public Broadcasting is a private, nonprofit corporation authorized by Congress in the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967. CPB is the steward of the federal government’s investment in public broadcasting and the largest single source of funding for public radio, television, and related online and mobile services.

CPB’s mission is “to ensure universal access to noncommercial, high-quality content and telecommunications services.” A popular misconception is that most of CPB’s funds go directly to NPR and PBS. Actually, 70% of CPB’s funding goes directly to more than 1,500 locally owned public radio and television stations.

CPB does not produce programming and does not own, operate, or control any public broadcasting stations. CPB, Illinois Public Media, PBS, and NPR are independent of each other and of other member stations.

Illinois Public Media receives around 20% of its funding from CPB and other federal grants.

Bennett joins development team

Nicky Bennett joined the team in April as Illinois Public Media's first-ever digital fundraising manager.

"Nicky will focus on refining and expanding our fundraising efforts in the digital space, including email, web gifts, social media, Passport, and more," said John Steinbacher, director of development. "He will work closely with our marketing team to ensure consistent fundraising messaging through all our digital platforms."

Bennett comes to IPM with a master's in public health and more than a decade of experience in nonprofit and higher education fundraising. Most recently he worked as the annual giving manager for direct mail and email at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. His background includes direct fundraising, donor cultivation, marketing campaigns, and project lifecycles.

"I will focus on leveraging IPM's digital technologies and spaces to better connect with the communities we serve," Bennett said. "I stay abreast of industry best practices and monitor trends in the public media space to inform and enhance IPM's engagement and fundraising efforts in the digital realm. These technologies can be harnessed to help us meet our community members where they are and engage them with the rich portfolio of services and programming we provide."

He believes in the power and value of public media. "Public media is a necessary component of both a healthy democracy and a healthy, informed society," he said.

And he's already a big fan of News, Brews & Beatz. "It provides a vital forum for conversations that are essential to addressing the ongoing injustices that impact members of the Black/African American community," Bennett said.

Bennett is a proud "fur-parent" to a 9-year-old dachshund named Cooper. "I am so grateful to have him. Every day begins with him excitedly wagging his tail as he asks for belly rubs before we go on our morning walk."

Dripps is new office manager

Dannon Dripps joined Illinois Public Media in late February as office manager. His responsibilities include purchasing, meeting and event planning, facility management, and special projects for the executive director and the leadership team.

"Dannon brings a wealth of experience in film and broadcasting to the job," said Moss Bresnahan, IPM executive director.

"Most importantly, he shares our passion for the mission of public media. He has already made a big difference in our office's efficiency and effectiveness."

"The opportunity to be a part of public media is really exciting to me," Dripps said. "From early childhood education to arts and cultural programming to impartial news reporting on a local, national, and global level, public media offers indispensable community resources (for free) that are broadcast nearly everywhere in the country. I feel really grateful to be a part of that."

Some of his favorite TV programs include PBS NewsHour, Frontline, American Experience, NOVA, Independent Lens, and Downton Abbey. "On the radio, I like pretty much everything on AM 580, but I especially like This American Life, Reveal, and The 21st."

Dripps credits his high school radio station in Wyoming for getting him into the industry. While going to school for broadcasting, he worked for Wyoming's PBS member station. As his interests shifted to film and photography, he earned a BA in media and theater arts at Montana State University. From there, he ran an independent, historic movie theater in Portland, Oregon, for 15 years.

He moved to Urbana at the end of 2020 to live closer to his wife's family. He worked for the Champaign Park District for a couple of years before coming to Illinois Public Media.

Outside of work, he loves listening to music across a variety of genres and collecting vinyl. He also enjoys camping, hiking, and photography.
